

Democratic Margins In Senate and House Do Not Cheer Administration

WASHINGTON—With a two-thirds majority in the Senate and with Democratic ranks in the House not even slightly impaired by Tuesday's balloting, Administration master-minds are in about the same position as the Tennessee mountaineer with the bear by the tail.

They can't do anything with the danged critter and they can't let go.

Although the new Congress convening in January will be plastered with Democratic labels, the markers will mean absolutely nothing. Above all they will not mean support for the White House.

That is in the laps of the gods, with the chances strong that party allegiance will run fast, loose and haywire.

This, of course, is what the master-minds are worried about. And it is no secret that the President would have been delighted had he lost part of his top-heavy majority.

No Bait

There are three reasons why the new Congress will not be particularly responsible to the guiding hand of Democratic Administration whose label it bears.

1. Seldom is Congress ever as responsible to the President after his first two years are over. By that time patronage is passed out; there are no more jobs to be dished; the White House lacks the power of political bribery or coercion.

2. One of the strongest factors in the new Congress is the Progressive group, completely independent, and voting with Roosevelt only when its members agree with him.

3. Another faction in Congress though definitely Democratic, is more violently opposed to various New Deal reforms than the most reactionary Republican in Congress.

These factions stand out more distinctly in the Senate. In this body, also, Roosevelt will have his chief troubles next session. Leaders of the so-called Progressive or Radical bloc include some of the most spectacular names on Capitol Hill. Sometimes ardently behind Roosevelt, they can cause him more trouble to the square inch than any other political problem.

Senatorial Trouble-Makers

Among them are: "Share-the-Wealth" Senator Huey Long, who despite his clownishness commands an important following in the Deep South.

Theodore G. Bilbo, sent to Washington by the Mississippi electorate on the promise that he would "raise more hell than Huey Long."

Burton K. Wheeler, on Montana, returning for his third term, is just as rabid against the big interests as ever.

Senator Robert M. La Follette, of Wisconsin, who will take his seat this time under a third party label, pledged to more sweeping economic reforms than ever before.

Lewis Baxter Schwellenbach, left-hitting Democrat, who takes office on a platform pledge to end poverty in the State of Washington.

Rush D. Holt, 29-year-old West Virginian, who as a champion high school and college orator openly campaigned as more "left" than the New Deal.

Sheep's Clothing

What really worries Roosevelt, however, is the Democratic lineup in sheep's clothing.

These, though reputedly staunch followers of the Party, can be controlled with less regularity than Progressive Republicans.

Take for instance Senator Carter Glass of Virginia, or his colleague from the same State—Senator Byrd. They have been Roosevelt's most ardent foes on monetary and agricultural measures. Senator "Cotton Ed" Smith of South Carolina, is in the same category. So are Senators Gore of Oklahoma, Bailey of North

G. O. P. VICTOR IN ASSEMBLY BY LONE VOTE

Democrats Hold Edge In Ohio Senate, First Time in 18 Years

OUTCOME IS STUDIED

Donahey Lead 432,184; Davey 75,233

COLUMBUS, Nov. 8.—While Ohio's newly-elected Democratic regime rested from the rigors of a long campaign and the nervous strain of awaiting the election results, the crushed Republican party today faced a call for liberalization to cope with the New Deal policy which spelled its defeat at the polls Tuesday.

The demand for liberalization, which was said to bespeak the opinion of nationally-known members of the party, came as the results of Tuesday's election showed the overwhelming power of the New Deal administration.

BLOW TO PARTY

Defeat of such a Republican stalwart as Senator Simeon D. Fess, who had held his senate post for 12 years, was a bitter blow to the party. Along with Fess, other party leaders fell in the crash among them, Clarence J. Brown, whose defeat at the hands of Democrat Martin L. Davey, was believed to mark his political oblivion.

Fess, according to complete unofficial tabulation, was buried under a Democratic landslide which gave Former Governor A. V. (Honest Vic) Donahey, a 432,184 majority. Brown's defeat, although not so crushing, was nevertheless decisive. Davey obtained 1,123,773 votes while Brown received 1,048,540—a majority of 75,233 for the Democrat.

The Republicans, however, found some small measure of satisfaction in the fact that they obtained the election of sufficient members to the state house of representatives to secure control of that legislative branch—even though it will be by only one vote.

With such a Republican representation in the house, Governor-elect Davey was certain to have a complicated state of affairs on his hands.

As far as the state senate is concerned, the Democrats elected two more than the Republicans.

IMPORTANT TO PROGRAM

Republican control of the lower house might seriously handicap a program the new Democratic governor might attempt to put through. It would be certain to do so, if the program was of a controversial nature as is usually the case in taxation matters.

Unless corrected returns alter the lineup, there will be 68 Republicans and 67 Democrats in the lower house. It requires 68 votes there to pass an ordinary bill, and an emergency proposal needs 90 votes for passage.

The expected lower house Republicanism.

PICKAWAY DECIDES OFFICE IN SENATE

Pickaway-co decided the race for the state senate between Robert Pfeiffer, incumbent, and August Weber, Democrat. Paul Gingham, Columbus Republican, was elected while W. I. Spangler, Tarlton, ran fourth.

Franklin-co gave Pfeiffer a lead over Weber for the second post but Weber's votes in Pickaway-co outnumbered Pfeiffer's enough to give him the chair.

Weber is a former senator serving with Spangler two years ago.

The totals in both counties were: Gingham, 62,863; Weber, 58,026; Pfeiffer, 57,261; Spangler, 56,308.

DISTURBED CHURCH. TEETS IS ARRESTED

John Teets, Perry-twp, was fined $5 and costs by Squire H. O. Eveland, Thursday, for disturbing a church meeting at Williamsport. He suspended the fine.

Teets was arrested after church officials said he sat on the floor then "stomped" on the wood during services.

Teets told the officers there were lots of others at the church who should have been arrested, too.

AUTO, TRUCK HIT

The Plymouth driven by Harold Armstrong, 620 Seminole-rd, Chillicothe, was damaged and so was the truck driven by L. B. "Jin" Davidson, W. Franklin-st., when they collided opposite the Ralston-Purina Mill Thursday at 9 a. m.

No one was hurt. Deputy Bob Armstrong, no relation to the Chillicothe man, investigated the crash.

BLOSSER AND M'CURDY WIN

Reports From Fourth Judicial District Show Republicans Winning Offices.

Peter J. Blosser, Chillicothe incumbent, and Russell McCurdy, the latter of Portsmouth, were winners of the fourth judicial district court of appeals races, it appeared today.

No official figures were available since all the counties in the district must send their returns to Portsmouth, seat of Scioto-co, the county with the largest population in the district. They will be released as soon as tabulated.

Blosser's margin over his Chillicothe opponent, Clarence Rais, was a large one while McCurdy's over Judge James Thomas, of Portsmouth, was not so large but was sufficient to elect him, it was reported.

Blosser and McCurdy are both Republicans. McCurdy will replace Judge Thomas who has been serving since his appointment by Governor White to fill the vacancy left by the demise of Judge Mauck, of Gallipolis. The Portsmouth man will serve the remainder of Mauck's term.

Judge W. H. Middleton, of Waverly, is the other member of the tribunal.

Court News

TWO ASK DIVORCE

Two divorce petitions were on file in common pleas court today with extreme cruelty and wilful absence alleged by the plaintiffs.

Lottie Mae Koch, Walnut-twp, charges Cary Martin Koch forced her to work in the fields and to perform manual labor. She also charges other acts of cruelty in her petition which was prepared by J. W. Adkins, Jr.

She asks that she be restored to her maiden name of Lottie Mae Boggs. Koch was restrained by a court of disposing of property.

The other petition was filed by E. A. Brown for Viola Price, E. Ohio-st., against Howard Price. She claims Price has been wilfully absent for over three years and asks that her maiden name of Viola Williams be restored.

Neither couple has any children.

CITY MANAGER PLAN IS VOTED

Washington C. H. to Change Government; Schlegel's Race Is Torrid One.

WASHINGTON C. H., Nov. 8.—Voters, Tuesday, approved legislation to create a city manager to replace a mayor here but at the same time defeated a 3-mill levy for additional revenue by which to operate the city.

The city manager plan was approved by 767 votes.

By blocking the 3-mill levy the voters threw the city face to face with a financial dilemma which officials confess has them baffled. Where money will come from to pay police and firemen is beyond the city's leaders.

James Ford, veteran Chillicothe politician, who advocated a probe of school book prices, was beaten for the senate in the Fayette-Ross-Highland-Clinton-Greene county district by Oliver S. Nelson, Fayette-co Republican.

Three Democrats and three Republicans were elected to office in Fayette-co.

SILBAUGH ELECTED

LANCASTER, Nov. 8.—Fairfield-co Republicans elected two men to office, Tuesday. They were John Silbaugh for prosecutor over William Schweikert, and Hocking Hunter for commissioner over Thomas Landerfelt. Strangely each won by 1,574 votes.

A one-mill tax levy to help meet current expenses of the city was defeated. Police and fire protection will be hampered, it is feared.

Great Altitude Planned Part of Route

UNION AIR TERMINAL, BURBANK, Cal., Nov. 8.—The huge, silver Douglas airliner in which Eddie Rickenbacker, accompanied by two pilots and three newspapermen is attempting to establish a new passenger record to New York reported by radio to the airport here at 7:40 a. m., today, two hours after the take-off.

In its terse report, which said all was well aboard the huge ship, flying at an altitude of nearly 18,000 feet, Rickenbacker said his plane was then about five miles northwest of the Grand Canyon over Arizona.

BURBANK, Cal., Nov. 8.—Pulling his silver, all-metal Douglas airliner off the ground following only a short run Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker, war-time ace, today took off on an attempted record passenger flight to New York.

The big twin-motored plane, carrying Rickenbacker, two other pilots and three newspapermen, was timed officially at the takeoff at 5:42 a. m. PST.

Now holds mark

Just before leaving Rickenbacker expressed confidence he could make the run in 12 hours and possibly in 11, thus shattering his own record of 13 hours and 2 minutes.

Weather conditions were ideal. The great circle route will be followed to Chicago, Rickenbacker said, taking the plane to a stratosphere altitude of 18,000 feet over Pueblo, Colo., and Lincoln, Neb., enroute.

The passengers and crew ate breakfast beside their plane before the takeoff and expected to have dinner with Mayor La Guardia in New York tonight.

Col. Lynn Black, patrol superintendent, also reported that only one school bus driver was operating without a chauffeur's license according to the follow-up check whereas there were 12 without licenses according to the initial equipment test.

The second inspection showed 18 vehicles without property insurance against 32 the first time but none without liability insurance against 21 in the first inspection.

Leaving Louis Setzer, Jr., in the house the other son of the couple ran to his grandfather's home to notify his parents of the fire.

They hurried back to the burning house and then plunged inside in an effort to rescue the child who had been left there.

They failed to reappear and in a few minutes the house had burned to the ground.

Firemen believe the couple were overcome by smoke as soon as they got inside the blazing structure.

PRESIDENT TURNS TO WINTER RELIEF PLANS

Problem Faced Through Nation

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—President Roosevelt came back to his White House desk today, supported by a national vote which revealed to be greater even than the tidal wave which swept him into office in 1932.

Mr. Roosevelt came today to his desk with one year and a few days more than seven months of work in the White House behind him. His work during that time the nation voted satisfactory by electing to office in the Senate and House a Democratic majority which approached the greatest plurality of all time. Not since the Civil War times have the Democrats so overwhelmed both branches of Congress as incoming returns indicated they would in the Congress which will convene next January.

RELIEF IS QUESTION

The winter relief program occupied the presidential mind above all other matters as the executive returned. He went to his Hyde Park, N. Y. home last Saturday morning, and remained there until midnight. At that time he boarded a special train and began the return trip to Washington, arriving here about 8 a. m. from the station here. He went directly to his White House desk and to work.

The relief problem was scheduled to come up even today. Mr. Roosevelt has scheduled a conference during the day with the victorious progressive Republican in Wisconsin, Robert "Bob" La Follette, and the young Wisconsin senator is deeply interested in this matter. Officials close to the White House have long indicated that the next relief program, cost what it may, will represent a plan of the administration for making the program of a permanently constructive nature.

The President continued to maintain silence regarding the election returns, apparently, he intends to allow them to speak for themselves. He saw reporters at his regular press conference in Hyde Park yesterday, but did not comment on the startling gains made by the Democrats in normally Republican strongholds.

RESUMES SCHEDULE

Today, the presidential schedule called for a resumption of the normal White House schedule. Two important callers were on the engagement list, in addition to La Follette, although the subject of their calls was not revealed. They were two diplomats, Breckinridge Long, this nation's ambassador to Italy, and Laurence Steinhardt, minister to Sweden.

The President intends to see a great many people between now and next Thursday, when he will make his annual pilgrimage to the Warm Springs, Ga., infantile paralysis sanatorium which he helped to found.

Questions and Answers

Is it incorrect to lift the water glass from the table or draw it to the edge when refilling it?

It is rather bad form to lift the tumbler or goblet from the table in replenishing the water. The glass should be left in place while being filled, and refilled three quarters full after each course, using a napkin to catch the drop from the spout of the pitcher.

In being seated at the dinner table, from which side should you approach your chair?

In being seated at the table, always approach the chair from the left, and in rising, leave from the same side.

What would you suggest serving with a dinner of Italian spaghetti?

As far as balance in the menu is concerned, Italian spaghetti calls for a salad first of all. If your menu is to be a light one, the salad serving may be made from fresh or canned fruit, and with a crisp breadstuff your menu is complete. If you wish to have more courses, you may use a vegetable salad, served with a tart dressing, and a dessert course of a frozen pudding or a portion of a dainty cake. A spiced tomato juice cocktail and Italian canapes make a fitting first course for a spaghetti dinner served as the evening meal.

When a waitress approaches a person to be served, from which side should she present the dish offered?

The waitress offers the dish being served at the left of the person she is serving. The dish should rest on a napkin, and be held low and near enough to the cover with a spoon at a convenient angle for the guest to help himself.

How can I keep hamburger from getting a hard crust after frying?

There is a trick to keeping a hamburger moist and preventing its getting crusty. Use one small grated potato, added to the hamburger mixture, for each pound of meat. Add milk, or water, and egg to the meat, and the hamburgers will be delightfully juicy.

Here is a suggestion you might like to use for improving French toast.

French toast is better when it is fried in fairly deep fat and if the bread is toasted first, then dipped in the milk and egg mixture, the toast will be much more delicious.

Lima Beans au Gratin

Tender lima beans in a casserole serving is a winter dish worth remembering. Use these ingredients:

- 3 slices bacon, chopped

- 1/4 tsp. salt
- 1/2 C. buttered bread crumbs

Cook the bacon until it is crisp. Blend with flour. Add beans and cheese. Season. Cook until smooth and thickened. Place in individual baking dishes and top with buttered crumbs. Brown for about 10 minutes in a hot oven (400 degrees). This quantity serves five.

Congressman Joe Byrns of Tennessee, prominent candidate for speaker of the house of representatives, is shown in this unusual photo as he cast his vote in the recent election at Nashville.

NO PLACE LIKE HOME

LYNN, Mass.—Loud snores awoke a Trinity Avenue woman. She notified police. A policeman discovered a man asleep beneath the front porch. The man turned out to be her husband. When asked by the policeman if she wished him brought into the house, the woman replied "No. Leave him where he is."

A REAR-END COLLISION

BELLEfonte, Pa.—Both Miss Marcy Baker, of Pittsburgh, and Larus Porter, of Hubbersburg, Pa., looked up and down the street to see that the way was clear before backing their cars out into High-st. They backed out at the same time and their cars collided. Instant from the opposite side of the Baker machine was damaged to the extent of $75.

THIS CHANGE Helps Children

Intestinal irritation in many growing girls and boys can be traced to one mistake.

Are you making this mistake with your children? The "liquid test" will tell.

"What is this 'liquid test' they talk about?" ask mothers. Just this: a simple way of finding out if any boy or girl with irregular or insufficient bowel movements is in need of relief, or is getting the wrong treatment.

Doctors urge a liquid laxative for children. The child who has been convalescing in a hospital will often come out with bowels working like a well-regulated watch. Hospitals give children a liquid laxative of suitable ingredients, suitable strength, and in suitable amount.

The Proper Treatment

Give that sluggish child a liquid laxative containing senna (a natural laxative). California Syrup of Figs has the right amount for children's use, and this rich, fruity syrup does not upset them.

Just give any headachy, bilious child a little of this gentle laxative when constipated, and a little less if dose is repeated until the bowels seem to be moving regularly and thoroughly without need of help.

How to Begin

Stop all use of mineral drugs, whether they are salts, pills, tablets, or "candy" form. Even once a month is too often to give any child a cathartic strong enough for adults.

It is not wise to give laxatives of adult strength to a child, just because you give them less frequently or in less amounts.

So, get a bottle of California Syrup of Figs from your druggist, and start tonight, if your child is constipated, giving a good, cleansing dose. Repeat if necessary, giving a little less each time. That's the secret of this treatment—gradually reduced dosage.

When you change to California Syrup of Figs instead of harsh medicines, you'll risk no more violence to your child's appetite, digestion, and general physical condition. You'll have a safer and more satisfactory result, too.

THE "LIQUID TEST"

This is the way to relieve occasional sluggishness, or constipation in a child of any age:

First: select a liquid laxative of the proper strength for children. Second: give the dose suited to the child's age, and condition. Third: reduce the dose, if repeated, until the bowels are moving without any help at all.

An ideal laxative for this purpose is California Syrup of Figs which every druggist keeps in stock. Be certain that it is the genuine product, with "California" blown in the bottle.

WASH OUT 15 MILES OF KIDNEY TUBES

Win Back Pep . . . Vigor . . . Vitality

Medical authorities agree that your kidneys contain 15 MILES of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy.

If you have trouble with too frequent bladder passages with scanty amount causing burning and discomfort, the 15 MILES of kidney tubes need washing out. This danger signal may be the beginning of nagging backache, leg pains, loss of pep and vitality, getting up nights, lumbago, swollen feet and ankles, rheumatic pains and dizziness.

If kidneys don't empty 3 pints every day and get rid of 4 pounds of waste matter, your body will take up these poisons causing serious trouble. It may knock you out and lay you up for many months. Don't wait. Ask your druggist for DOAN'S PILLS . . . a doctor's prescription . . . which has been used successfully by millions of kidney sufferers for over 40 years. They give quick relief and will help to wash out the 15 MILES of kidney tubes.

But don't take chances with strong drugs or so-called "kidney cures" that claim to fix you up in 15 minutes, for they may seriously injure and irritate delicate tissues. Insist on DOAN'S PILLS . . . the old reliable relief that contains no "dope" or habit-forming drugs. Be sure you get DOAN'S PILLS at your druggist. © 1934, Foster-Milburn Co.

WHICH ~

a Postal Money Order or

YOUR PERSONAL CHECK?

Are postal money orders better than checks? Let's see. . . . To buy a money order, you must go to the post office. You must fill out an application blank for each order. A $1.00 money order costs 6 cents, and if it is for $65.00 the fee is 20 cents. Then, too, the largest money order you can buy is for $100. Money order receipts are small, confusing, easily mislaid—in which case it may take time and trouble to prove payment of a disputed bill.

Contrast this with the advantages of paying your bills "by check" . . . make them out anywhere . . . they become the best receipt . . . they give you "business standing" . . . and when you keep a reasonable balance in your account in keeping with the checks you draw, they don't cost you anything.

Carolina, McAdoo of California and Adams of Colorado.

Frequently they lead the revolt against the New Deal.

Thus Roosevelt goes into the next Congress more than ever stamped as a "middle-of-the-road" man. From one side he will be pulled by the progressive group. From the other will tug the conservative Democrats.

From another side also will be pulling big business.

Recovered from its depression jitters, business is now militant and aggressive. Its lobbyists will overflow the corridors of Congress during the coming session.

Left Drive

Left-wingers on Capitol Hill be no less active. Backed by powerful and irate unions, they are mobilizing to make the next session one of the most bitterly contested in legislative history.

The bonus, inflation, labor legislation, increased Government spending, higher taxes all will come up next session, and on all the Democratic Party will be split.

The fact that the Party has a safe majority, the fact that the Republican opposition is cut by factions, will tend to make Roosevelt's own cohorts more careless and themselves split by factional fights.

Probably there will be a repetition of the difficulties which beset the Republican Party in 1920 and 1924 when landslides in their favor shattered Democratic opposition. The result was a chaotic era of bloc politics and log-rolling legislation.

But more than anything else, the next session is going to find the President standing between two bitter factions of his own party, resorting frequently to his power of veto, and having an almost impossible time pleasing either.

Even the Law Could Find No Answer

By IRVIN S. COBB

THE Supply of hobo stories is really inexhaustible, so if I have picked this story as an excellent example of the humor known to the knights of the road, I hope those of you who have heard it before will be amused by its repetition.

A hobo was arrested on the usual charge of vagrancy. As he was conducted before the officer at the desk, the regular search was made on his person to remove whatever weapons there might be secluded in the multifold of his oversized garments.

The policeman making the search, suddenly drew forth from a pocket, a large bottle of honey. "How did you come to get that jar of honey?" asked the minion of the law.

"Well," said the tramp, "I admit that I don't keep no bees; but what's to stop a fellow squeezing it out of the flowers himself?"

Their True Worth

We think rarely of the place of women's colleges in our national life. And when we do it is to visualize one type of college turning out the super-intellectual young woman graduate, and another conferring only a heritage of social grace upon its alumnae.

The conceptions are unsatisfactory and untrue, and to Mrs. Dwight Morrow the country as well as the women's colleges owe a debt of gratitude for setting forth the underlying and actual reason for their existence. It is not to train cooks or teachers nor to develop a young lady peasant skilled in Latin and mathematics. The critics of colleges for the failing of their graduates in technical skill ignore the fact, perhaps, that higher education aims not at teaching a trade, but at liberating the spirit so that life may be richer and so that the individual more competent to meet whatever demands the after-college years may bring.

It is an objective sometimes lost in a technical age, but it is the true value of college education. Whatever woman's place in the scheme of things, that added comprehension will bring as much to her and those who are associated with her as any other possession she may acquire.

What Mrs. Morrow and her co-workers on the Alumnae Committee of the Seven Colleges now are asking is merely that the women's colleges receive the same consideration from persons with money as the institutions for men enjoy. If astronomical instruments enrich the imagination of men students, so they do for women. The cost is the same in either case. And if women students are to be awakened to the joys of the intellectual life, they must have inspiring teachers. These should cost as much for women as for men. Hence the plea—when and if any one has any money to give, let him remember not only the college which made his father a lawyer, but the one which made his mother a poised and competent homemaker—and even made it easier for her to learn to cook.

A weird man, John N. Garner of Uvalde, Texas, for a vacation he goes on a vacation.

The Powder Keg

"CAROLINE" by RUTH DEWEY GROVES

SYNOPSIS

The depression did not alter life at "Hawthorn," the comfortable, hospitable home of the Philip Rutledges. Caroline, their lovely daughter, entertained lavishly and the younger set swarmed there. Mrs. Rutledge spends most of her time at the club. Following her mother's return from one of her trips, Caroline gives a party. The pampered Alva notes how capably her daughter has arranged everything and wishes she could feel happier about it. Caroline's parents disapprove of their daughter's fiancé, Howard Dunsen. Years ago, Howard's father bought property from Philip saying he wanted it for a leather factory and instead he went into the soap business in competition with Philip. The families have been enemies ever since. At the height of the party, Philip arrives home with the news that Henry Dunsen has ruined him. Howard seems genuinely shocked. Philip tells Howard and Caroline that Dunsenworth Sr.'s next move will be to break their engagement and he suggests they talk it over. "Of course, it can't make any difference to us," Caroline tells Howard. "No," he agrees, but his voice lacks warmth.

CHAPTER III

"Do you understand it, Howard? Oh no," she added quickly as his face darkened. "I don't mean to ask if you knew of it before today. But do you know what it means to father?"

"How should I know?" he countered.

"But I'm sure that everything father had was in the factory," Caroline explained. "If he's lost that we're broke—except for this house. I'd hate to part with this place, Howard."

"Yes," he said, "it is a charming house."

"I'd hate mother and father to lose it," she said. "Suddenly she uttered a gasp of dismay as a new and troubling thought came to her. 'Perhaps father won't be able to remodel the farm house for us now!'" she cried, referring to the old dwelling on the estate, where the overcast had lived when the owners of Hawthorn House were gentlemen farmers.

Howard answered with a show of firmness. "Really, Caro, you'll get yourself into a frightful state of nerves if you keep this up. Take it easy, get used to it before you turn it inside out."

"I can't shelve it," Caroline said. "I'm like that Howard, you know it. I must face issues, something drives me to it."

"But you're making me darned uncomfortable, since, as you say, my Dad had a large finger in the pie."

"But you agreed that didn't matter," she replied swiftly. "I suppose I might keep my concern for Mother and Father to myself. But what will we do, Howard? How will we face our own future?"

"I'd rather not talk about it, Caro. I'll have to think it out together. I'm lost, Howard; not afraid, just lost. Do you think it's true what Father said, about your father, I mean? Breaking us up?"

"Well," Howard said growing blunt with his mounting impatience, "if you must have it, I'm afraid it's true all right."

"But he couldn't! How could he?"

"He's taken one important step already," Howard told her. "He cut my allowance completely when I became engaged to you."

"Oh. He is hard, isn't he? And you were too sweet to tell me."

"Howard admitted, 'as he didn't threaten to disinherit me. And I've had the money my grandmother left me.'"

"That's why he didn't try to frighten you with threats. He knew he couldn't."

"Not so long as you were an heiress," Howard said quietly, and waited for her to grasp the significance of his words. Caroline's mind was occupied in another direction, however.

"I shan't mind living on what your grandmother left you," she said.

"But Caro, it's very little," Howard declared.

"Is it enough for an apartment? Or Mother and Father might have us here—if they stay on. Would you dislike that Howard?"

"Caro, you know they have no use for me."

"They don't know you. When you're one of us they'll forget that you're Henry Dunsenworth's son. But I'd like the apartment if you'd prefer it—even if it's just two or three rooms and a kitchenette."

Howard said, with a sort of feeble horror: "Oh lord. With me drying the dishes, I suppose. Caro, for heaven's sake, get back into your right mind."

She looked at him, and her eyes were suddenly darkened with a

think of me! Well, you are wrong—I'd have been happy with you anywhere before you said that. But at least you needn't think so contemptibly of me as to believe I'll wait for you to break our engagement."

With a gesture of scorn she stripped off his engagement ring and held it out to him.

Howard refused to take it. "Caro, be reasonable," he urged. "Wait, there might be a way. Things may not be so bad as your father thinks. You know I'm crazy about you..."

"But not crazy enough to marry a poor girl," Caroline broke in with a stormy laugh. "Take your ring, Howard. There's one girl in town who hasn't seen it, and she has money enough for you!"

Howard Dunsenworth liked to think of himself as a pretty decent sort—considering the temptations to mistakes and the pitfalls that beset the painful suspicion. "What can we do then?" she asked. "I'm sure I don't know," he answered. "I haven't enough money to support us."

Caroline held steady, but she could feel a tightness in her throat as she put her next question. "You haven't lost what you had from your grandmother, have you?"

"No, but it's not enough for us to live on."

"What do you mean, Howard?" Howard's irritation broke through his control. "See here, Caro, he said unpleasantly, 'this sounds like a school boy's catechism. I must say I thought you were as sensible about money as I.'"

"We've never earned any money, you or I," Howard began. "We've always had it from our parents. What would it have mattered whose parent? If I lost my allowance through marrying you would it have been more than fair that your father should provide for us?"

"So that's what you counted on—my father's support," Caroline said quietly.

"Naturally. With the house he was giving us we could have got along very well on what I have and a bit now and then. Dad wouldn't have had a club to wield over me. He'd never have given your father the satisfaction of doing more for me than he did. I'd have inherited his money some day. It's different now. If we marry he'll cut me off, and if I know you it wouldn't please you any more to be poor than it would me."

Anger flamed quickly to Caroline's cheeks. "Is that what you

'Halitosis' Is a Warning of Disorder

Examination Needed to Locate, Correct Underlying Cause

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States senator from New York
Former Commissioner of Health,
New York City

I VENTURE to say that ten years ago comparatively few persons were familiar with the word "halitosis". Today everyone has become familiar with it. It comes from a Latin word "halitus", meaning breath, and halitosis is the modern term for bad breath.

Magazines, newspapers and street car placards daily point out the embarrassingness of halitosis. But they fail to mention that halitosis is not a disease in itself but a symptom of some disorder. Contrary to a common belief, it is not always the result of faulty dental care.

Halitosis can often be traced to infected and diseased tonsils, decayed teeth, nasal deformities and faulty digestion. It is plain to see that even with proper dental care halitosis may persist if the actual cause of the disturbance is not detected and completely removed. For this reason, it is advisable for sufferers from this disorder to consult with the doctor and make every effort to determine the underlying cause.

Inflamed tonsils secrete a sticky substance. This fluid is sticky and remains adherent to the tissues within the unnumerable crevices in the tonsil. Particles of food become attached to the tonsil. The food putrefies and gives off a bad odor. The only cure is to have the diseased tonsils removed.

In some cases odor and discomfort may persist even after the tonsils have been removed. Further study usually reveals the sufferer to be a careless and hasty eater. Eating at irregular hours and other faulty habits, such as improper chewing of food and rushing through meals, are common causes of halitosis. Correcting these faults may do away with the need of operation.

Failure to follow simple and sane rules about food and eating is a constant menace to the health. Indigestion, constipation and other digestive disturbances are all too common. In most instances neglect leads, not only to halitosis, but to other more serious discomforts.

Cleanliness Essential

Many persons believe that vigorous brushing of the teeth and periodic use of a mouth wash are sufficient to eradicate the unpleasant breath. Unfortunately, this is not true. If teeth are decayed and diseased they will give off an unpleasant odor. Relief can only be obtained by removal of the decayed teeth and having all dental cavities filled.

Since many cases of halitosis can be traced to excessive intestinal putrefaction, it is advisable that the diet be given careful thought. The diet should contain a liberal amount of fresh fruits and vegetables which supply the necessary "roughage". Food should be slowly and carefully chewed.

When these matters are attended to, the mouth wash will add to the comfort.

MOVIES

AT THE CLIFTONA

If Baby LeRoy, who is featured in "The Old-Fashioned Way," W. C. Fields' new starring film, coming Friday and Saturday to the Cliftona Theatre, grows to full manhood with an ingrained dislike for lemon meringue pie, he can attribute it to his recent film experience.

One scene in "The Old-Fashioned Way" calls for Baby LeRoy to plant one of those gooey confections on the unprotected visage of his fellow player, Fields.

While the cameras were waiting for LeRoy to start the pie on its parabolic flight, he probed its contents with his free finger and liked it so well that, in the subsequent retakes, he managed to consume almost a full pie.

The following day was given over to curing the effects of LeRoy's epicurean experiment, and he has shown no further curiosity about pies. Fields is happier.

AT THE GRAND

Billy Purl and his Billy Purl show, clever and clean stage show, will come to the Grand theatre this evening.

Featured with Purl are Faith Joy, Hal Raywin and his magic violin; Peggy Francis, the Skipper twins, Chet Long, Irish tenor, and the Billy Purl orchestra.

Will Rogers Picks A Story For This Spot

THEM floods up in New England was terrible, too. Why, if the rivers are going to go bad on us this way every once in a while, it'll get to be more important to stop them than it will be to stop wars. You could put on a pretty good war for what our floods has cost us this year already.

A preacher was looking at the water, up at Montpelier, Vermont. He was terrible discouraged. He says to a colored fellow that was near him, "Isn't it awful? It really seems like the deluge, all over again."

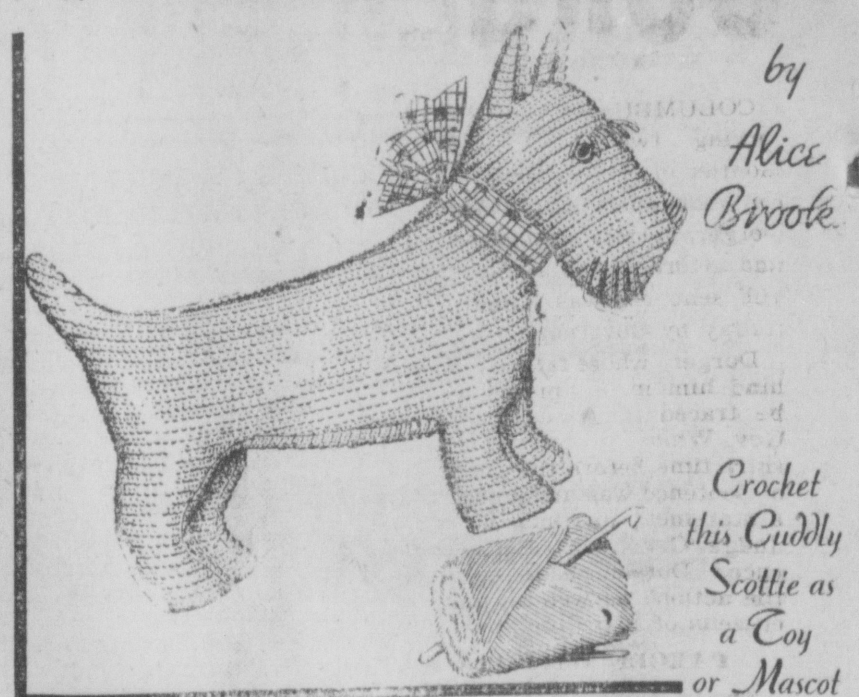

"Deluge?" says the black boy. "What's that about? I don't know that word."

"Oh, yes, surely you've heard of the Deluge, with Noah putting all the animals into a big boat and getting away."

"Well, boss, I s'pose I ought to know about it, but I tell you we ain't seen a paper up here for three years, and things like that don't get to us."

PATTERN 9189

This slip is not only shadow-proof—it's styled for extra long wear as well. Notice how the skirt, double in back, is left open at one side from the hips down. That means there will be much less wear and tear on the material; consequently, there'll be fewer split seams. It also means that you won't "sit out the back" of your slip as quickly as many of us do. Then, too, the built up straps, cut in one piece with the bodice, are less likely to slip off the shoulders and ruin the effect of your daintiest dresses. To go under your nicer frocks you might make this slip of flesh-colored satin.

Pattern 9189 may be ordered only in sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, 20, 30, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48 and 50. Size 16 requires 3 1/4 yards 39 inch fabric.

DORGER, BANKER, FREE

COLUMBUS, Nov. 8 — After serving two years and seven months of a 10-year prison term for embezzlement, Clarence A. Dorgier, former Cincinnati banker and attorney was at liberty today. His sentence was commuted yesterday by Governor George White.

Dorgier, whose father remains behind him in the prison, could not be traced after he was liberated. Gov. White left for Camp Perry a short time before the commutation of sentence was announced but left a statement in which he said that Judge Charles S. Bell, who sentenced Dorgier, had recommended the action "as well as many other citizens of Hamilton county."

PAROLE WITHDRAWN

The ex-banker had been given a parole last August but it subsequently was cancelled when it was revealed that Dorgier, then a trusty at the Junction City prison plant, allegedly had been receiving "special privileges." It was charged that he was allowed to visit sporting events in Columbus and Lancaster and that he also had been allowed to visit his wife frequently in a Lancaster hotel.

After the charges brought a storm of controversy, Dorgier was returned to prison and his case had been shunted into the background until the governor took the action late yesterday.

Because of the special privilege charges, Herman Blosser, deputy warden at the Junction City plant, was demoted to guard, later dropped from the state payroll but still later re-employed at the Ohio Penitentiary here.

Dorgier was convicted November 22, 1930, on charges of embezzlement, misapplication of funds and false entry growing out of the failure of the Cosmopolitan Bank and Trust company at Cincinnati six months before. His father, Frank J. Dorgier, also was convicted but they did not enter prison until 14 months later after the Ohio Supreme court refused to intervene.

THROUGH MANIPULATION

The son was former vice-president of the bank and the father president of the defunct institution. Their case was closely interwoven through an alleged securities manipulation with that of Amor W. Shafer, former manager of the Henry L. Doherty & Company office in Cincinnati. Shafer served a prison term at the penitentiary but was paroled in September 1933.

No action was taken in the case of the elder Dorgier. His prison record, it was charged, contained many black marks for alleged violation of minor prison rules.

HERO FOR AN HOUR

CODY, Wyo.—Ernest Johnson was the hero of the hour, when, awakening at midnight, he saw the huge form of a bear just outside his window and shot it down. The next day he learned that it was a pet that had escaped from the Cody zoo.

Petite Lily Pons, who crashed the Metropolitan Opera from comparative obscurity several years ago, is headed for Hollywood. race between Fred Schlegel and William Herrstein for county auditor remained close with "official" count giving the former, the incumbent, an 18-vote lead. Early returns had Herrstein ahead by only two votes but 20 were "found." Later figures found a discrepancy cutting the Schlegel lead to only six votes.

Schlegel is a cousin of E. F. Schlegel, Ashville funeral director.

The strictly Republican Chillicothe Gazette, which devoted reams upon reams of copy paper praising the virtues of Renick W. Dunlap and the demerits which should eliminate Mell G. Underwood devoted a single paragraph and the county vote on the outcome of the race.

publican majority also would mean that party would elect the speaker who might be Rep. James A. Jones, Portage county, G. O. P. floor leader in the present assembly. ## Song Writers Divorce retirement of Dwight L. Matchette, Darke-co Democrat, as clerk of the lower house, and the naming of a Republican successor. Latest returns showed the election of 18 Democrats and 14 Republicans to the state senate, which would give the majority party one more vote than the minimum required to pass an ordinary bill. It takes 22 votes for the senate to pass emergency legislation.

After 16 years of marriage, James Paul Warburg, New York banker and former Roosevelt "brain trust" and his song-writing wife, Mrs. Kay Swift Warburg, shown above, for whom he composed lyrics, are headed for the divorce court. Mrs. Warburg is now in Reno to establish residence, prior to seeking a divorce.

EDGE IN SENATE

It was the first time in 18 years the Democrats elected a majority of the senators. Their success will mean replacement of the present clerk, Thomas E. Bateman, Pike-co Republican. Presiding officer of the new senate will be Lieut. Gov. Harold G. Mosier, Cleveland, a Democrat. He defeated Paul M.

Herbert, (R) Columbus, by 64,780 votes.

Republicans, despite the Democratic landslide occasioned by the presence of Donahy of the ticket, managed to re-elect Attorney General John W. Bricker and State Treasurer Harry S. Day, while Secretary of State George S. Myers, Democrat, was re-elected.

Judge Charles Zimmerman, Democrat, and Arthur H. Day, Republican, were elected to 6-year state supreme court terms, and W. L. Hart, Republican, and W. F. Carver, Democrat, to short terms, beginning as soon as their election is certified and ending on Dec. 31. Judge Howard L. Bevis, Democrat, appointed to the supreme court by Gov. George White when Judge R. R. Kinkade resigned in 1933, went down to defeat before Roy H. Williams, Republican. Williams will replace Bevis as soon as certified by the secretary of state and remain on the bench until Dec. 31, 1936.

AMENDMENTS LOSE

Both proposed constitutional amendments to prohibit taxing of automobiles as personal property and to limit the state gas tax to 3 cents failed to carry.

While control of the state government remains in the hands of the Democrats through election of Davey, he was expected to lose no time in making a wholesale house-cleaning in state departments, as he did at Democratic state headquarters immediately after his primary victory.

Of all the White major appointees, only Agriculture Director

Earl Hanefeld, Democratic state chairman, and State Fire Marshal Frank Henry are considered in the good graces of Davey. They probably will be retained by his administration.

Davey's election was expected to speed the departure of Col. John A. Hughes, liquor control director. He has indicated that he will resign before Davey has the opportunity to discharge him. Another White cabinet member certain to go was Highway Director O. W. Merrell who is unfriendly to Davey. As his successor, J. J. Jaster, Jr., Cleveland, division engineer in the highway department, was considered to be well up in the running.

HEEKIN IS BUCKEYES' ALL-AMERICAN STAR

COLUMBUS, Nov. 8.—Son of a varsity football player at Ohio State more than a score of years ago; a coffee salesman in his spare time and one of the best all-around gridiron players who has donned the scarlet in many years, Richard "Dick" Heekin of Cincinnati is one of the country's leading candidates for all-American honors.

Playing right halfback on the Ohio State varsity, Heekin has been a big factor in the showing of the Buckeye team this fall. At the top or near the top of the Western Conference scoring Heekin has rapidly become one of the most feared backs in the conference.

SHOWS EVERYTHING

Heekin has shown everything a great back should have. His average through the first half of the season has been a minute fraction less than 6 yard on plays from scrimmage; he has run back kick-offs and punts from 20 to 92 yards; he is above the average punter; a great forward passer and a receiver of no mean ability. But on top of all that, the thing that pleases most is that he is the best blocker on the team.

Weighing 196 pounds, he has the ability to rip through the opposing line and usually it takes two and sometimes three tacklers to bring him to earth. Heekin is the kind

ODDS ANNOUNCED

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Army, Purdue, Minnesota, Pittsburgh, Stanford and Yale are quoted as favorites to win their football games Saturday, according to quotations announced today by New York betting commissioners.

The Cadets are quoted at 3 to 1 over Harvard; Purdue at 4 to 1 over Indiana; Minnesota at 5 to 2 over Nebraska; Stanford at 2 to 1 over Washington; and Yale at 8 to 5 over Georgia.

Colgate is favored at 8 to 5 over Tulane; Columbia at 3 to 1 over Brown; Illinois at 5 to 2 over Northwestern; So Methodist at 2 to 1 over Texas A. & M.; Ohio State at 5 to 2 over Chicago and St. Mary's at 5 to 2 over U. C. L. A.

of a player that will twist, squirm, and fight for that extra yard after he is supposedly stopped.

Then, too, he is the fastest man on the squad. Last week against Western Reserve he ran back a kickoff 92 yards for a touchdown and timed the ball that it was exactly 15 seconds from the time Reserve kicked the ball until Heekin had crossed the goal line. On straight running, in football regalia, he can step the length of a football field in 10 seconds flat.

"Tippy" Dye, Ohio's 138 pound quarterback is a great favorite of Heekin and when this "muscular molecule" has the ball opposing players find him difficult to stop because usually Big Heekin is looking out for his boy and will block just twice as hard trying to clear a path for the youngster.

BEST SCHMIDT'S SEEN

Coach Francis A. Schmidt, who has been in the coaching game for 19 years, declares that Heekin is the best all-around player he has been privileged to see in action.

Heekin is a junior in the college of arts. He is a member of Delta Upsilon fraternity, weighs 196 pounds and stands six feet, one inch in height.

SPORT BRIEFS

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Nov. 8.—Maurice Johnson today was named as the probable starter at end in Minnesota's clash with Indiana Saturday in the place of Frank Larson. Larson received a knee injury and could not finish the first half against Michigan.

Stan Kostka is ready to take his place at fullback in spite of a chipped bone in his toe.

NOTRE DAME, Ind., Nov. 8.—Notre Dame's football team faced another hard defensive drill today in preparation for Saturday's game with the Navy eleven. The Irish will be in far better physical shape for the Navy game than they were against Pitt, it was said. A lengthy session last evening saw Coach Elmer Layden drilling the ends in getting down under punts. The varsity scrimmaged against freshmen teams using Navy plays.

About This And That

BY THE SECOND GUESSER

WE PICK STATE

The Ohio State-Chicago football game Saturday should be one of the most interesting in the Big Ten this year. We'll pick Ohio to win but predict that both teams will do plenty of scoring. If Ned Bartlett, Chicago's other great back, is out of the game Ohio's chances are better since Jay Berwanger will be the only man the Buckeyes must keep their eyes glued upon. He'll provide a busy afternoon, however.

MORE PREDICTIONS

There are a bunch of other games this week which will be difficult to select—Just for fun we're again going to try to predict them. The batting average last week was not so good.

Here they are:

Cincinnati over Ohio U.
Colgate over Tulane.
Columbia over Brown.
Army over Harvard.
Purdue over Iowa.
Pitt over Nebraska.
Michigan over Wisconsin.
Illinois over Northwestern.
U. S. C. over California.
Stanford over Washington.
Michigan State over Syracuse.
Temple over Carnegie Tech.
Navy over Notre Dame.
Yale over Georgia.
Wesleyan over Denison.

WHITE TO PASS

We read in the papers where Coach Gauthier of Wesleyan has given his charges some new plays with Turley as the key man—This Turley boy is after a conference scoring so he should be the man to do most of the tallying. The story also says that Turley and Howard White are going to alternate at throwing passes.

Turley was off at Oxford last Saturday hitting only one man, Harley, for a gain. That was in the first half since in the second the ball was too muddy to even carry let alone pass.

IOWA CITY, Ia., Nov. 3—Flash

Oze Simmons, the University of Iowa negro halfback, may remain on the bench when the Hawkeyes meet Purdue Saturday. Injuries and his failure to come up to expectations caused Coach Ozzie Solem to name John Hild to start at left halfback in the Boiler-maker game.

STOUTSVILLE

Mr. and Mrs. Minard Rife and children, Tom and Nancy, of Dayton, visited Omer Rife and daughter, Helen, over the week-end. Miss Helen accompanied them home, Sunday evening.

Mrs. Alice Conrad is visiting this week with her sister, Miss Julia Barnes of South Bloomfield. Edison, Frank and Laura Stout, of Ringgold, were dinner guests, Sunday, of W. A. Meyers and daughter, Blanche.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Featherolf and family, of Adelphi, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Featherolf.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Stein and children, near Ashville, were guests, Sunday, of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Stein and other relatives. Joseph Fausnaugh and Mrs. Minnie Fausnaugh returned Saturday from a week's visit with Mr. and Mrs. Gus Wolf in Columbus.

Gets Hit, Is Arrested

MADRID—There was a loud explosion when a man was knocked down by a motor car in a busy Madrid street. When picked up by police, it was found that a loaded pistol in his pocket had been discharged by his impact. The man was not injured, but as he had no license for carrying arms, he was arrested.

Navy Seeks Revenge in Battle With Notre Dame

Zabriskie, Navy guard; George Caldwell, Notre Dame quarterback; Fred Borries, Navy halfback.

The midshipmen of the U. S. Naval academy seek revenge for a long string of defeats when they clash with Notre Dame's Irish in an important inter-sectional football contest at Cleveland next Saturday. The Navy is declared to have the best team it has had in years, and its chances of downing the South Bend gridgers are good. This lay-out shows some of the outstanding players.

Miss Weaver—First Grade

A Halloween party was given Wednesday for Miss Baker's first and Miss Cooper's third grade pupils by Miss Weaver's and Miss Evin's grade. A short program was given:

Recitation—Richard Shaw.
Health Rhymes—First and Second grades.

The exercise closed with the Lord's Prayer.

Class A of the third grade wrote poems about "Fireflies" this week. This is the first attempt. The class enjoyed them and perhaps you will.

These are a few:
THE FIREFLY
Harriet E. Heffner
I caught a little firefly,
Floating through the air,
He lit his little yellow light,
And few right into my hair.

FIREFLIES

Laura Belle Stein
Above the fields of wheat,
The sky is dark and high,
Not a spark of light but
The fireflies floating by.

FIREFLY

Elsie Barr
There was a little firefly
Out over our garden green.
I thought I'd catch him on the sly,
But he, he must have seen.

Miss Bowers—Fifth Grade
At a Halloween party in the fifth grade, Arthur Wolfe won first prize on his freak exhibit and Bobby Barr won second. Boyd Fausnaugh, Elmore Seymour and Esther Steward won prizes in contests.

Mr. Griffith—Eighth Grade
The spelling row contest was won last week by the row led by Herman Hines, others in the row were Thelma Dumm, Sarah Campbell, Virginia and Lloyd Nungster.

Favorite Recipes

Every once in a while we get a collection of recipes that women give as their favorites, because they are tasty, or because their families enjoy them so much. Here are a few of them:

Corned Beef Hash

"Maggie" probably wouldn't care about this recipe, but the rest of us will enjoy it.

- 3 Tbsp. fat
- 2 Tbsp. chopped onion
- 2 C. chopped corned beef, firmly packed
- 2 C. cooked diced potatoes
- 1 C. milk or evaporated milk
- 1/4 tsp. salt
- 1/4 tsp. pepper

Melt the shortening in the skillet, and cook onion in it for about 3 minutes, or until a light brown in color. Mix the rest of the ingredients together and add to the skillet. Cook very slowly for 30 minutes, turning frequently as the mixture browns. Form into a loaf and turn onto a platter. Serves six.

Drop Doughnuts

A cake doughnut is always a good dessert or pick-up serving when outside temperatures hover below the freezing point. Then we need to eat more foods for energy and something sweet has quite an energizing effect.

- 3 eggs
- 1 C. milk
- 1/4 tsp. salt
- 3 1/2 C. flour
- 1 C. sugar
- 1/4 tsp. nutmeg
- 3 tsp. baking powder

Beat eggs. Add salt and sugar, and beat. Add milk and dry ingredients alternately. Drop small spoonfuls into deep fat and cook slowly. When cool, shake in powdered sugar. Makes 2 dozen drop doughnuts.

A Tomato Juice Cocktail With Plenty of Zest!

- 1 can tomato juice
- 1/2 tsp. celery salt
- 1 1/2 tsp. lemon juice
- 1 1/2 tsp. malt vinegar
- 1/2 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
- 5 drops of Tabasco sauce

Mix ingredients and serve chilled. The quantity will serve 6 persons.

Santa Clara Salad

Fruits are valuable in menu planning. All the year around. Days of reduced sunshine make us anxious to get enough fruit each day. Here is a recipe for a salad featuring several kinds of fruit:

- 1/2 prunes
- 1/2 cup cream cheese
- 1/2 cup sliced pineapple
- Maraschino cherries
- Head lettuce

Simmer prunes gently until meat is tender and fluffy. Stone and chill them thoroughly. Soften cheese with cream. Stuff prunes. Place pineapple on lettuce and arrange three stuffed prunes on each slice. Garnish prunes with slices of maraschino cherries. Makes 9 salads.

ABOUT HAIR AND HAIR TREATMENTS

You may be one of millions who has wasted time, hope, money on "tonics" and treatments. Now Charles Nessler, inventor of the permanent wave, leading hair scientist, author of "Story of Hair", makes a simple but revolutionary discovery that ends that Charles Nessler's Pro-Ker is based. 30,000 tests have proved that Pro-Ker produces results. Hair for hair, it makes the scalp replace falling hair with new hair. The Biology class has a new aquarium about 8 in. by 18 in. The potted plants, goldfish, statues, and different rocks with which it is filled make it interesting to study and watch. It makes the room more cheerful.

CODE FOR LOVERS

"I don't know whether you can put love under the Blue Eagle or not," says Mae. "But there's nothing like trying. What this country needs is a rule for cutting out unfair competition in love."

READ MAE'S CODE . . . THEN WRITE YOUR OWN!

1. Love is the only industry which can't operate on a five-day week.

2. You have to work at love seven days a week and 24 hours a day—or quit.

3. When you're in love, you have a life-time job, if you want to work at it.

4. Lovers must change "Live and let live" to "Love and let love."

5. A girl should have no more than one date an evening, unless she can keep 'em apart.

6. There should be a rule against love at first glance, because one glance isn't enough.

7. All discarded lovers should be given a second chance, but with somebody else.

WHAT WOULD YOU ADD? FINISH THESE!

1. Lovers should—

2. A girl in love

FEDERAL MEN CLEARING UP ROBLES ABDUCTION LAST SPRING IN ARIZONA

One Man Jailed, 2 Others Sought

PHOENIX, Ariz., Nov. 8.—With Oscar Robson, 31, Tucson, Ariz., night club operator under arrest, U. S. department of justice agents here today concentrated on the apprehension of two other persons, who they assert were Robson's accomplices in the kidnaping of June Robles in Tucson last spring.

It was learned today that from the amazing web of evidence gathered by the investigators, it has been established that a fourth member of the kidnap gang committed suicide last May, shortly after June was discovered alive in her desert coffin prison.

The suicide occurred, it was said as officers were preparing to question this suspect, whose name was not revealed.

TRIED BY U.S.

Joseph E. P. Dunn, head of the Los Angeles district of the department of justice who conducted the investigations which led to the arrest of Robson, today emphatically declared that Robson will be prosecuted in the federal courts, and not turned over to Arizona authorities.

"Robson will be prosecuted in the federal courts on a charge of mailing a letter demanding extortion money," Dunn declared.

Robson, charged with writing the extortion letters to the Robles family, was connected to the case through his handwriting.

The printing on the ransom notes received by the Robles family at the time of the kidnaping, the federal agents here said, has been found by experts of the department of justice in Washington, to be similar to Robson's handwriting.

Handwriting of the suspect, and printing found in a railroad office where Robson was employed several al years ago, has been compared with printing on the ransom notes it was said.

In checking on the handwriting the department of justice agents obtained samples of Robson's writing dating back to his high school days, they said.

WIFE IS CLEARED

The investigator, at the same time, issued a statement in which he cleared Robson's pretty, young wife, and the mother of the suspect's two children, from any connection with the case.

Dunn said Mrs. Robson was in Los Angeles at the time of the abduction.

Dunn revealed his belief that no ransom money had ever been paid and expressed the belief none of the members of the Robles family had ever connected Robson with the abduction.

The motive in the case, according to Dunn, was the $15,000 ransom demanded for the safe return of the child.

Robson, Dunn said, had been questioned by Tucson authorities shortly after the kidnaping, but was released.

Several times in recent weeks, Robson has been questioned further, the federal investigator said, but he was not taken into custody until his arrest and arraignment before U. S. Commissioner Daniel Hurley, Wednesday.

UNDER $50,000 BOND

Robson is being held under $50,000 bail for hearing, set for Nov. 22.

Thus far, Robson, who has no attorney, has remained silent in the face of repeated questioning although stoutly maintaining his innocence.

It was learned that one of the suspects sought in the case is an aviator.

This man, investigators say, is the member of the kidnap gang who went from Tucson to Chicago, and there mailed the letter which revealed the location of the prison "coffin" in which the 9-year-old child was held on the outskirts of Tucson.

It was this letter, assertedly written by Robson, which led to the release of June.

Dunn said that the abductors had planned the kidnaping well in advance but a "last minute slipup" resulted in the safe return of the favorite grandchild of Bernabe Robles, patrician cattle-king of Arizona.

According to the plans of the kidnapers, as reconstructed by Dunn, the child was to have been spirited into Mexico, and held captive on an isolated ranch.

RANCHER REFUSED

Refusal of a Phoenix rancher who owned the property in Mexico, to co-operate in the plot caused that plan to be abandoned, the federal officials said.

The second suspect now being sought was the actual kidnaper, the agents said.

It was this man, they claim, who lured June, on her way home from school on April 25, into a dilapi-

New Streamline Train 'Last Word' in Development of Locomotives

This layout illustrates the many changes which have taken place in the development of the railroad locomotive since its invention more than 130 years ago. The "last word" in railroad trains is the new Union Pacific train, which recently established a new transcontinental speed record from the Pacific to the Atlantic. One of the first engines was Stephenson's Rocket, built in England. Other locomotives prominent in the development of railroads include Peter Cooper's Tom Thumb of 1829; the John Bull, operating in 1831; the Lion of 1841; the Mississippi, in use in 1878; William Cook's tiny locomotive of 1885, and the Great Northern oil burner of 1925.

Zanesville Schools

In Tight Situation

ZANESVILLE, Nov. 8.—Approximately 6,500 children here today faced a school vacation of more than two months following the decision of the board of education to close the schools at the end of the regular sessions tomorrow.

The school treasury today contained only $4,000, or just enough to pay operating expenses up to Friday afternoon.

Although Zanesville citizens approved a three-mill levy for school purposes at the election Tuesday, revenue from the new tax will not be available until after Jan. 1.

A. S. Herzer, president of the school board, said that some plan might be worked out if teachers would agree to deferred salary payments until after the first of the year, when funds would be available.

Herzer said also that the schools might re-open soon if aid is granted by the state legislature, scheduled to reconvene Nov. 19.

Baby Beaten to Death

CINCINNATI, Nov. 8.—Police today continued their search for the prowler who last night clubbed a 14-month-old baby to death when its startled cries betrayed the man's presence in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Greer, negroes.

The baby, Gus Greer, died of a skull fracture. The prowler fled as the baby's father entered the room where Gus and two other children slept.

DARIEN, Conn., Nov. 8.—Two Darien policemen were reported dying today following an early morning running gunfight with three youths in an automobile.

The two officers are Sergeant Edward Mugazero and Patrolman John Cochran.

Two youths, believed to have taken part in the affair, were under arrest.

'RANCH' ABANDONED

DELAWARE, Nov. 8.—The federal government's big cattle range north of here for grazing of relief cattle shipped into Ohio from drought states was being scrapped today and by nightfall not a single cow was expected to remain at the feeding grounds.

Announcement of abandonment of the 300-acre range, which was rented by the government to fatten up the cattle before slaughtering for relief food, was made by Ben Vincent, superintendent at the ranch.

The cup race record for pro- tests already has been far overshadowed. An international bridge competition has begun in England.

LIGHT QUESTION UP

Mr. Shaner brought up the question of the Court and High-

traffic light which, it seems, is just a matter of opinion between certain persons. Some object to the light and others approve and ask it continuation, Shaner told council. He asked council's advice and Chairman Baker placed the matter in the hands of the safety director for investigation.

Solicitor Carl Leist told council that he had inquired into the request of Fire Inspector J. S. Baer for some kind of authority to force the elimination of fire traps and that he had been told all such authority should be given Baer by the state fire marshal. Mr. Baer has been told of the ruling.

Fire Chief Talmie Wise reported to council that the fire cisterns were in need of repair if the city intends to keep them in repair for future emergency. The matter was referred to the service committee.

In addition to President Goeller, Councilmen Frank Marion and Ben Gordon missed the meeting.

The DAILY WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Democratic Margins In Senate and House Do Not Cheer Administration

WASHINGTON—With a two-thirds majority in the Senate and with Democratic ranks in the House not even slightly impaired by Tuesday's balloting, Administration master-minds are in about the same position as the Tennessee mountaineer with the bear by the tail.

No Bait

There are three reasons why the new Congress will not be particularly responsible to the guiding hand of Democratic Administration whose label it bears.

1. Seldom is Congress ever as responsible to the President after his first two years are over. By that time patronage is passed out; there are no more jobs to be dished; the White House lacks the power of political bribery or coercion.

Senatorial Trouble-Makers

Among them are: "Share-the-Wealth" Senator Huey Long, who despite his clownishness commands an important following in the Deep South. Theodore G. Bilbo, sent to Washington by the Mississippi electorate on the promise that he would "raise more hell than Huey Long."

Sheep's Clothing

What really worries Roosevelt, however, is the Democratic lineup in sheep's clothing. These, though reputedly staunch followers of the Party, can be controlled with less regularity than Progressive Republicans.

G. O. P. VICTOR IN ASSEMBLY BY LONE VOTE

Democrats Hold Edge In Ohio Senate, First Time in 18 Years

OUTCOME IS STUDIED

Donahey Lead 432,184; Davey 75,233

COLUMBUS, Nov. 8.—While Ohio's newly-elected Democratic regime rested from the rigors of a long campaign and the nervous strain of awaiting the election results, the crushed Republican party today faced a call for liberalization to cope with the New Deal policy which spelled its defeat at the polls Tuesday.

The demand for liberalization, which was said to bespeak the opinion of nationally-known members of the party, came as the results of Tuesday's election showed the overwhelming power of the New Deal administration.

BLOW TO PARTY

Defeat of such a Republican stalwart as Senator Simeon D. Fess, who had held his senate post for 12 years, was a bitter blow to the party. Along with Fess, other party leaders fell in the crash among them Clarence J. Brown, whose defeat at the hands of Democrat Martin L. Davey, was believed to mark his political obituary.

Fess, according to complete unofficial tabulation, was buried under a Democratic landslide which gave Former Governor A. V. (Honest Vic) Donahey, a 432,184 majority. Brown's defeat, although not so crushing, was nevertheless decisive. Davey obtained 1,123,773 votes while Brown received 1,048,540—a majority of 75,233 for the Democrat.

The Republicans, however, found some small measure of satisfaction in the fact that they obtained the election of sufficient members to the state house of representatives to secure control of that legislative branch—even though it will be by only one vote.

With such a Republican representation in the house, Governor-elect Davey was certain to have a complicated state of affairs on his hands.

As far as the state senate is concerned, the Democrats elected two more than the Republicans.

IMPORTANT TO PROGRAM

Republican control of the lower house might seriously handicap a program the new Democratic governor might attempt to put through. It would be certain to do so, if the program was of a controversial nature as is usually the case in taxation matters.

Unless corrected returns alter the lineup, there will be 68 Republicans and 67 Democrats in the lower house. It requires 68 votes there to pass an ordinary bill, and an emergency proposal needs 90 votes for passage.

The expected lower house Re-

PICKAWAY DECIDES OFFICE IN SENATE

Pickaway-co decided the race for the state senate between Robert Pfeiffer, incumbent, and August Weber, Democrat. Paul Gingham, Columbus Republican, was elected while W. I. Spangler, Tarlton, ran fourth.

Franklin-co gave Pfeiffer a lead over Weber for the second post but Weber's votes in Pickaway-co outnumbered Pfeiffer's enough to give him the chair.

Weber is a former senator serving with Spangler two years ago.

The totals in both counties were:

Gingher, 62,863; Weber, 58,026; Pfeiffer, 57,261; Spangler, 56,308.

DISTURBED CHURCH TEETS IS ARRESTED

John Teets, Perry-twp., was fined $5 and costs by Squire H. O. Evenden, Thursday, for disturbing a church meeting at Williamsport. He was suspended the fine.

Teets was arrested after church officials said he sat on the floor then "stomped" on the wood during services.

Teets told the officers there were lots of others at the church who should have been arrested, too.

BLOSSER AND M'CURDY WIN CITY MANAGER PLAN IS VOTED

Reports From Fourth Judicial District Show Republicans Winning Offices.

Peter J. Blosser, Chillicothe incumbent, and Russell McCurdy, the latter of Portsmouth, were winners of the fourth judicial district court of appeals races, it appeared today.

No official figures were available since all the counties in the district must send their returns to Portsmouth, seat of Scioto-co, the county with the largest population in the district. They will be released as soon as tabulated.

Blosser's margin over his Chillicothe opponent, Clarence Rais, was a large one while McCurdy's over Judge James Thomas, of Portsmouth, was not so large but was sufficient to elect him, it was reported.

Blosser and McCurdy are both Republicans. McCurdy will replace Judge Thomas who has been serving since his appointment by Governor White to fill the vacancy left by the demise of Judge Mauck, of Gallipolis. The Portsmouth man will serve the remainder of Mauck's term.

Judge W. H. Middleton, of Waverly, is the other member of the tribunal.

Court News

TWO ASK DIVORCE

Two divorce petitions were on file in common pleas court today with extreme cruelty and wilful absence alleged by the plaintiffs.

Lottie Mae Koch, Walnut-twp., charges Cary Martin Koch forced her to work in the fields and to perform manual labor. She also charges other acts of cruelty in her petition which was prepared by J. W. Adkins, Jr.

She asks that she be restored to her maiden name of Lottie Mae Boggs. Koch was restrained by the court of disposing of property.

The other petition was filed by E. A. Brown for Viola Price, E. Ohio-st., against Howard Price. She claims Price has been wilfully absent for over three years and asks that her maiden name of Viola Williams be restored.

Neither couple has any children.

Great Altitude Planned Part of Route

UNION AIR TERMINAL, BURBANK, Cal., Nov. 8.—The huge, silver Douglas airliner in which Eddie Rickenbacker, accompanied by two pilots and three newspapermen is attempting to establish a new passenger record to New York, reported by radio to the airport here at 7:40 a. m., today, two hours after the take-off.

In its terse report, which said all was well aboard the huge ship, flying at an altitude of nearly 18,000 feet, Rickenbacker said his plane was then about five miles northwest of the Grand Canyon over Arizona.

BURBANK, Cal., Nov. 8.—Pulling his silver, all-metal Douglas airliner off the ground following only a short run, Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker, war-time ace, today took off on an attempted record passenger flight to New York.

The big twin-motored plane, carrying Rickenbacker, two other pilots and three newspapermen, was timed officially at the takeoff at 5:42 a. m. PST.

NOW HOLDS MARK

Just before leaving Rickenbacker expressed confidence he could make the run in 12 hours and possibly in 11, thus shattering his own record of 13 hours and 2 minutes.

Weather conditions were ideal. The great circle route will be followed to Chicago, Rickenbacker said, taking the plane to a stratosphere altitude of 18,000 feet over Pueblo, Colo., and Lincoln, Neb., enroute.

The passengers and crew ate breakfast beside their plane before the takeoff and expected to have dinner with Mayor La Guardia in New York tonight.

COUNTY SCHOOL BUSES FOUND SAFE

Not a single school bus was found unsafe to operate in the follow-up inspection made in Pickaway-co by the State Highway patrol in co-operation with the Ohio department of education. Seven buses were found unsafe in the first inspection.

There were the same number of buses—101—examined at each examination.

Col. Lynn Black, patrol superintendent, also reported that only one school bus driver was operating without a chauffeur's license according to the follow-up check, whereas there were 12 without licenses according to the initial equipment test.

The second inspection showed 18 vehicles without property insurance against 32 the first time but none without liability insurance against 21 in the first inspection.

FAIRFIELD, Conn., Nov. 8.—A New York advertising man, his wife and 10-year-old son, were burned to death here early today when a fire of unknown origin destroyed their home in the exclusive Stillson road section.

The dead: Louis Setzer, 30. Mrs. Louis Setzer, 28. Louis Setzer, Jr., 10.

Setzer and his wife were visiting Setzer's father at his home nearby and the couple's two sons were in the house when the fire broke out.

Leaving Louis Setzer, Jr., in the house the other son of the couple ran to his grandfather's home to notify his parents of the fire.

They hurried back to the burning house and then plunged inside in an effort to rescue the child who had been left there.

They failed to reappear and in a few minutes the house had burned to the ground.

Firemen believe the couple were overcome by smoke as soon as they got inside the blazing structure.

PRESIDENT TURNS TO WINTER RELIEF PLANS

Problem Faced Through Nation

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—President Roosevelt came back to his White House desk today, supported by a national vote which incoming returns from elections revealed to be greater even than the tidal wave which swept him into office in 1932.

Huey in Libel Trial

Because the U. S. supreme court ruled his senatorial immunity doesn't protect him against arrest in such a case, Senator Huey P. (Kingfish) Long, of Louisiana, below, must stand trial in a District of Columbia court where Gen. Samuel T. Ansell, attorney, shown above, is suing the Kingfish for $500,000. Long allegedly had called the general a "scoundrel and thief" on the senate floor and mailed copies of the speech to the voters in Louisiana.

WASH OUT 15 MILES OF KIDNEY TUBES

Win Back Pep... Vigor... Vitality
Medicinal authorities agree that your kidneys contain 15 MILES of tiny tubes, filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy.
If you have trouble with too frequent bladder passages with scanty amount causing burning and discomfort, the 15 MILES of kidney tubes need washing out. This danger signal may be the beginning of nagging backache, leg pains, loss of pep and vitality, getting up nights, limbo, swollen feet and ankles, rheumatic pains and dizziness. If kidneys don't empty 3 times every day and get rid of 4 pounds of waste matter, your body will take up these poisons causing serious trouble. It may knock you out and lay you up for many months. Don't wait. Ask your druggist for DOAN'S PILLS... a doctor's prescription... which has been used successfully by millions of kidney sufferers for over 40 years. They give quick relief and will help to wash out the 15 MILES of kidney tubes.
But don't take chances with strong drugs or so-called "kidney cures" that claim to fix you up in 15 minutes, for they may seriously injure and irritate delicate tissues. Insist on DOAN'S PILLS... the old reliable relief that contain no "dope" or habit-forming drugs. Be sure you get DOAN'S PILLS at your druggist. © 1934, Foster-Milburn Co.

Mr. Roosevelt came today to his desk with one year and a few days more than seven months of work in the White House behind him. His work during that time the nation voted satisfactory by electing to office in the Senate and House a Democratic majority which approached the greatest plurality of all time. Not since the Civil War times have the Democrats so overwhelmingly both branches of Congress as incoming returns indicated they would in the Congress which will convene next January.

RELIEF IS QUESTION

The winter relief program occupied the presidential mind above all other matters as the executive returned. He went to his Hyde Park, N. Y. home last Saturday morning, and remained there until midnight. At that time he boarded a special train and began the return trip to Washington, arriving here about 8 a. m. from the station here. He went directly to his White House desk and to work.

The relief problem was scheduled to come up even today. Mr. Roosevelt has scheduled a conference during the day with the victorious progressive Republican in Wisconsin, Robert "Bob" La Follette, and the young Wisconsin senator is deeply interested in this matter. Officials close to the White House have long indicated that the next relief program, cost what it may, will represent a plan of the administration for making the program of a permanently constructive nature.

RESUMES SCHEDULE

Today, the presidential schedule called for a resumption of the normal White House schedule. Two important callers were on the engagement list, in addition to La Follette, although the subject of their calls was not revealed. They were two diplomats, Breckinridge Long, this nation's ambassador to Italy, and Laurence Steinhardt, minister to Sweden. The President intends to see a great many people between now and next Thursday, when he will make his annual pilgrimage to the Warm Springs, Ga., infantile paralysis sanatorium which he helped to found.

GREENHOUSE PLANS ITS FLOWER SHOW

Brehmer's Greenhouses will hold their annual Chrysanthemum show for three days starting Friday and continuing through Sunday. With many varieties of new Chrysanthemums and the greenhouses full of beautiful flowers a visit to their greenhouses will be a treat to lovers of flowers.
An orchid will be given away each day during the show so one person will be made happy each day when they learn they are the recipient of this rare flower.

Real Bridge of Sighs

BELGRADE—Ninety-six people have thrown themselves from the "Suicides Bridge" at Gushak, on the Adriatic coast, in the last few years. Only one of them lived. There is a 100 foot fall to a tiny river and a rocky bed below.

Prophets Fail as Road Show Business Perks Up

Prophets who predicted a dozen years ago that legitimate stage road shows would quickly die off, are still waiting. From Hollywood to Broadway, theaters are being repainted and seats dusted off for the biggest "legit" season in the recent memory of critics. Dozens of stars, led by George M. Cohan, Fannie Brice, Katharine Cornell, Helen Hayes, Walter Huston and Katharine Hepburn are treading the boards again in musical comedy, melodrama and romantic drama. Many actors and actresses now in movies must do their performing in coastal theaters in order to remain near sound studios. Although denied seeing these stars, hinterland theaters are receiving the aces of Broadway.

Questions and Answers

Is it incorrect to lift the water glass from the table or draw it to the edge when refilling it?

It is rather bad form to lift the tumbler or goblet from the table in replenishing the water. The glass should be left in place while being filled, and refilled three quarters full after each course, using a napkin to catch the drop from the spout of the pitcher.

In being seated at the dinner table, from which side should you approach your chair?

In being seated at the table, always approach the chair from the left, and in rising, leave from the same side.

What would you suggest serving with a dinner of Italian spaghetti?

As far as balance in the menu is concerned, Italian spaghetti calls for a salad first of all. If your menu is to be a light one, the salad serving may be made from fresh or canned fruit, and with a crisp breadstuff your menu is complete. If you wish to have more courses, you may use a vegetable salad, served with a tart dressing, and a dessert course of a frozen pudding or a portion of a dairy cake. A spiced tomato juice cocktail and Italian canapes make a fitting first course for a spaghetti dinner served as the evening meal.

When a waitress approaches a person to be served, from which side should she present the dish offered?

The waitress offers the dish being served at the left of the person she is serving. The dish should rest on a napkin, and be held low and near enough to the cover with a spoon at a convenient angle for the guest to help himself.

How can I keep hamburger from getting a hard crust after frying?

There is a trick to keeping a hamburger moist and preventing its getting crusty. Use one small grated potato, added to the hamburger mixture, for each pound of meat. Add milk, or water, and egg to the meat, and the hamburgers will be deliciously juicy.

Here is a suggestion you might like to use for improving French toast.

French toast is better when it is fried in fairly deep fat, and the bread is toasted first, then dipped in the milk and egg mixture, the toast will be much more delicious.

Lima Beans au Gratin

Tender lima beans in a casserole serving is a winter dish worth remembering. Use these ingredients:

- 3 slices bacon, chopped
- 4 tsp. flour
- 1 No. 2 can lima beans
- 1 C. grated American cheese
- 4 tsp. salt
- 1 C. buttered bread crumbs

Cook the bacon until it is crisp. Blend with flour. Add beans and cheese. Season. Cook until smooth and thickened. Place in individual baking dishes and top with buttered crumbs. Brown for about 10 minutes in a hot oven (300 degrees). This quantity serves five.

NO PLACE LIKE HOME

LYNN, Mass.—Loud snores awoke a Trinity Avenue woman. She notified police. A policeman discovered a man asleep beneath the front porch. The man turned out to be her husband. When asked by the policeman if she wished him brought into the house, the woman replied "No. Leave him where he is."

A REAR-END COLLISION

BELLEFONTE, Pa.—Both Miss Marcy Baker, of Pittsburgh, and Larus Porter, of Hubersburg, Pa., looked up and down the street to see that the way was clear before backing their cars out into High-st. They backed out at the same time and their cars collided. Instant from the opposite side of The Baker machine was damaged to the extent of $75.

THIS CHANGE Helps Children

Intestinal irritation in many growing girls and boys can be traced to one mistake.

Are you making this mistake with your children? The "liquid test" will tell.

"What is this 'liquid test' they talk about?" ask mothers. Just this: a simple way of finding out if any boy or girl with irregular or insufficient bowel movements is in need of relief, or is getting the wrong treatment.

Doctors urge a liquid laxative for children. The child who has been convalescing in a hospital will often come out with bowels working like a well-regulated watch. Hospitals give children a liquid laxative of suitable ingredients, suitable strength, and in suitable amount.

The Proper Treatment

Give that sluggish child a liquid laxative containing senna (a natural laxative). California Syrup of Figs has the right amount for children's use, and this rich, fruity syrup does not upset them.

Just give any headachy, bilious child a little of this gentle laxative when constipated, and a little less if dose is repeated until the bowels seem to be moving regularly and thoroughly without need of help.

How to Begin

Stop all use of mineral drugs, whether they are salts, pills, tablets, or "candy" form. Even once a month is too often to give any child a cathartic strong enough for adults.

It is not wise to give laxatives of adult strength to a child, just because you give them less frequently or in less amounts.

So, get a bottle of California Syrup of Figs from your druggist, and start tonight, if your child is constipated, giving a good, cleansing dose. Repeat if necessary, giving a little less each time. That's the secret of this treatment—gradually reduced dosage.

When you change to California Syrup of Figs instead of harsh medicines, you'll risk no more violence to your child's appetite, digestion, and general physical condition. You'll have a safer and more satisfactory result, too.

THE "LIQUID TEST"

This is the way to relieve occasional sluggishness, or constipation in a child of any age:

First: select a liquid laxative of the proper strength for children. Second: give the dose suited to the child's age, and condition. Third: reduce the dose, if repeated, until the bowels are moving without any help at all.

An ideal laxative for this purpose is California Syrup of Figs which every druggist keeps in stock. Be certain that it is the genuine product, with "California" blown in the bottle.

WHICH— a Postal Money Order or YOUR PERSONAL CHECK?

Are postal money orders better than checks? Let's see. . . . To buy a money order, you must go to the post office. You must fill out an application blank for each order. A $1.00 money order costs 6 cents, and if it is for $65.00 the fee is 20 cents. Then, too, the largest money order you can buy is for $100. Money order receipts are small, confusing, easily mislaid—in which case it may take time and trouble to prove payment of a disputed bill.

Contrast this with the advantages of paying your bills "by check" . . . make them out anywhere . . . they become the best receipt . . . they give you "business standing" . . . and when you keep a reasonable balance in your account in keeping with the checks you draw, they don't cost you anything.

The DAILY WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

Carolina, McAdoo of California and Adams of Colorado.

Frequently they lead the revolt against the New Deal.

Thus Roosevelt goes into the next Congress more than ever stamped as a "middle-of-the-road" man. From one side he will be pulled by the progressive group. From the other will tug the conservative Democrats.

From another side also will be pulling big business.

Recovered from its depression pities, business is now militant and aggressive. Its lobbyists will overflow the corridors of Congress during the coming session.

Left Drive

Left-wingers on Capitol Hill be no less active. Backed by powerful and hate unions, they are mobilizing to make the next session one of the most bitterly contested in legislative history.

The bonus, inflation, labor legislation, increased Government spending, higher taxes all will come up next session, and on all the Democratic Party will be split.

The fact that the Party has a safe majority, the fact that the Republican opposition is cut by factions, will tend to make Roosevelt's own cohorts more careless and themselves split by factional fights.

Probably there will be a repetition of the difficulties which beset the Republican Party in 1920 and 1924 when landslides in their favor shattered Democratic opposition. The result was a chaotic sea of bloc politics and log-rolling legislation.

But more than anything else, the next session is going to find the President standing between two bitter factions of his own party, resorting frequently to his power of veto, and having an almost impossible time pleasing either.

Merry-Go-Round

"It is sad to relate, but true nevertheless, that William Gibbs McAdoo hasn't a friend left in California." This lugubrious statement was made by McAdoo's former campaign manager, J. B. Elliott. The winter costume of the Potomac Indians, who lived where the Capital now stands was a robe of deerskin or cottontail, ornamented with neatly interwoven turkey feathers. Fresh from the youthful West comes word of the formation of the New Order of Cincinnati. Its 2,000 members, mostly from Seattle, dedicate themselves to clean government, must take an oath of honesty and must open to public scrutiny all records and safety deposit boxes. The sculptor who designed the new half-dollar coin celebrating the 100th anniversary of Texas' independence is a native of Italy, Pompeo Coppini. A naturalized American citizen, Coppini has done busts or statues of Washington, Grant, General Sam Houston, Terry's Ranger, etc., knows the figures of American history better than most Americans.

Gladden Troutman has been appointed by Capital University to handle the Circleville ticket sales for the Russian Don Cossack Male chorus which is to appear in concert at Capital University Saturday afternoon and evening, November 17.

This is the Russian Cossack's final tour in this section of the United States. They come this season with a new program of songs and dances.

A special section for children has been arranged for the audience whereby they will be admitted for the price of 25c.

All inquiries for tickets should be addressed to Mr. Troutman, E. Mound-st.

Laughing Around the World With IRVIN S. COBB

Even the Law Could Find No Answer

By IRVIN S. COBB

THE Supply of hobo stories is really inexhaustible, so if I have picked this story as an excellent example of the humor known to the knights of the road, I hope those of you who have heard it before will be amused by its repetition.

A hobo was arrested on the usual charge of vagrancy. As he was conducted before the officer at the desk, the regular search was made on his person to remove whatever weapons there might be secluded in the multitudinous of his oversized garments.

The policeman making the search, suddenly drew forth from a pocket, a large bottle of honey. "How did you come to get that jar of honey?" asked the minion of the law.

"Well," said the tramp, "I admit that I don't keep no bees; but what's to stop a fellow squeezing it out of the flowers himself?"

Their True Worth

We think rarely of the place of women's colleges in our national life. And when we do it is to visualize one type of college turning out the super-intellectual young woman graduate, and another conferring only a heritage of social grace upon its alumnae.

The conceptions are unsatisfactory and untrue, and to Mrs. Dwight Morrow the country as well as the women's colleges owe a debt of gratitude for setting forth the underlying and actual reason for their existence. It is not to train cooks or teachers nor to develop a young lady parlant skilled in Latin and mathematics. The critics of colleges for the failing of their graduates in technical skill ignore the fact, perhaps, that higher education aims not at teaching a trade, but at liberating the spirit so that life may be richer and the individual more competent to meet whatever demands the after-college years may bring.

It is an objective sometimes lost in a technical age, but it is the true value of college education. Whatever woman's place in the scheme of things, that added comprehension will bring as much to her and those who are associated with her as any other possession she may acquire.

What Mrs. Morrow and her co-workers on the Alumnae Committee of the Seven Colleges now are asking is merely that the women's colleges receive the same consideration from persons with money as the institutions for men enjoy. If astronomical instruments enrich the imagination of men students, so they do for women. The cost is the same in either case. And if women students are to be awakened to the joys of the intellectual life, they must have inspiring teachers. These should cost as much for women as for men. Hence the plea—when and if any one has any money to give, let him remember not only the college which made his father a lawyer, but the one which made his mother a poised and competent homemaker—and even made it easier for her to learn to cook.

"CAROLINE" by RUTH DEWEY GROVES

SYNOPSIS
The depression did not alter life at "Hawthorn," the comfortable, hospitable home of the Philip Rutledges. Caroline, their lovely daughter, entertained lavishly and the younger set swarmed there. Mrs. Rutledge spends most of her time abroad and her husband practically lives at the club. Following her mother's return from one of her trips, Caroline gives a party. The pampered Alva notes how capably her daughter has arranged everything and wishes she could feel half about it. Caroline's parents disapprove of their daughter's fiancé, Howard Dunsforth. Years ago, Howard's father bought property from Philip saying he wanted it for a leather factory and instead he went into the soap business in competition with Philip. The families have been enemies ever since. At the height of the party, Philip arrives home with the news that Henry Dunsforth has ruined him. Howard seems genuinely shocked. Philip tells Howard and Caroline that Dunsforth Sr.'s next move will be to break their engagement and he suggests they talk it over. "Of course, it can't make any difference to us," Caroline tells Howard. "No," he agrees, but his voice lacks warmth.

CHAPTER III
"Do you understand it, Howard? Oh no," she asked quickly as his face darkened. "I don't mean to ask if you knew of it before today. But do you know what it means to father?"
"How should I know?" he countered.
"But I'm sure that everything father had was in the factory," Caroline explained. "If he's lost that, we're broke—except for this house. I'd hate to part with this place, Howard."

"Yes," he said, "it is a charming house."
"I hate mother and father to lose it," she said. "Suddenly she uttered a gasp of dismay as a new and troubling thought came to her. 'Perhaps father won't be able to remodel the farm house for us now!'" she cried, referring to the old dwelling on the estate, where the overseer had lived when the owners of Hawthorn House were gentlemen farmers.

Howard answered with a show of firmness. "Really, Caro, you'll get yourself into a frightful state of nerves if you keep this up. Take it easy, get used to it before you turn inside out."
"I can't shelve it," Caroline said tensely. "I'm like that Howard, you know it. I must face issues, something drives me to it."
"But you're making me darned uncomfortable, since, as you say, my dad had a large finger in the pie."
"But you agreed that didn't matter," she replied swiftly. "I suppose I might keep my concern for Mother and Father to myself. But what will we do, Howard? How will we face our own future?"
"Please let us think it out together. I'm lost, Howard; not afraid, just lost. Do you think it's true what Father said, about your father, I mean? Breaking us up?"
"Well," Howard said, growing blunt with his mounting impatience. "If you must have it, I'm afraid it's true all right."
"But he couldn't! How could he?"
"He's taken one important step already," Howard told her. "He cut my allowance completely when I became engaged to you."
"Oh, he is hard, isn't he? And you were too sweet to tell me."
"I wasn't greatly worried about it," Howard admitted, "as he didn't threaten to disinherit me. And I've had the money my grandmother left me."

"That's why he didn't try to frighten you with threats. He knew he couldn't."
"Not so long as you were an heir," Howard said quietly, and waited for her to grasp the significance of his words. Caroline's mind was occupied in another direction, however.

"I shan't mind living on what your grandmother left you," she said.
"But Caro, it's very little," Howard declared.
"Is it enough for an apartment? Or Mother and Father might have us here—if they stay on. Would you dislike that Howard?"
"Caro, you know they have no use for me."
"They don't know you. When you're one of us they'll forget that you're Henry Dunsforth's son. But I'd like the apartment if you'd prefer it—even if it's just two or three rooms and a kitchenette."

Howard said, with a sort of feeble horror: "Oh lord. With me drying the dishes, I suppose. Caro, for heaven's sake, get back into your right mind."

She looked at him, and her eyes were suddenly darkened with a

think of me! Well, you are wrong—I'd have been happy with you anywhere before you said that. But at least you needn't think so contemptibly of me as to believe I'll wait for you to break your engagement."

With a gesture of scorn she stripped off his engagement ring and held it out to him.

Howard refused to take it. "Caro, be reasonable," he urged. "Wait, there might be a way. Things may not be so bad as your father thinks. You know I'm crazy about you."

"But not crazy enough to marry a poor girl," Caroline broke in, with a stormy laugh. "Take your ring, Howard. There's one girl in town who hasn't seen it, and she has money enough for you!"
Howard Dunsforth liked to think of himself as a pretty decent sort, considering the temptations to mistakes and the pitfalls that beset the order. Contrary to a common belief, it is not always the result of faulty dental care.

Halitosis can often be traced to infected and diseased tonsils, decayed teeth, nasal deformities and faulty digestion. It is plain to see that even with proper dental care halitosis may persist if the actual cause of the disturbance is not detected and completely removed. For this reason, it is advisable for sufferers from this disorder to consult with the doctor and make every effort to determine the underlying cause.

Inflamed tonsils secrete a tenacious substance. This fluid is sticky, and remains adherent to the tissues within the innumerable crevices in the tonsil. Particles of food become attached to the tonsil. The food particles and gives off a bad odor. The only cure is to have the diseased tonsils removed.

In some cases odor and discomfort may persist even after the tonsils have been removed. Further study usually reveals the sufferer to be a careless and hasty eater. Eating at irregular hours and other faulty habits, such as improper chewing of food and rushing through meals, are common causes of halitosis. Correcting these faults may do away with the need of operation.

Failure to follow simple and sane rules about food and eating is a constant menace to the health. Indigestion, constipation and other digestive disturbances are all too common. In most instances neglect leads, not only to halitosis, but to other more serious discomforts.

Cleanliness Essential:
Many persons believe that vigorous brushing of the teeth and periodic use of a mouth wash are sufficient to eradicate the unpleasant breath. Unfortunately, this is not true. If teeth are decayed and diseased they will give off an unpleasant odor. Relief can only be obtained by removal of the decayed teeth and having all dental cavities filled.

Since many cases of halitosis can be traced to excessive intestinal putrefaction, it is advisable that the diet be given careful thought. The diet should contain a liberal amount of fresh fruits and vegetables which supply the necessary "roughage". Food should be slowly and carefully chewed.

When these matters are attended to, the mouth wash will add to the comfort.

painful suspicion. "What can we do then?" she asked levelly.

"I'm sure I don't know," he answered lamely. "I haven't enough money to support us."

Caroline's voice held steady, but she could feel a tightness in her throat as she put her next question. "You haven't lost what you had from your grandmother, have you?"

"No, but it's not enough for us to live on."

"But what had you planned on, before this?"

Howard's irritation broke through his control. "See here, Caro," he said unpleasantly, "this sounds like a school boy's catechism. I must say I thought you were as sensible about money as I."

"What do you mean, Howard, sensible?" Caroline persisted.

"We've never earned any money, you or I," Howard began. "We've always had it from our parents. What would it have mattered whose parent? If I lost my allowance I'd be married, wouldn't you? I'd be married, wouldn't you? I'd be married, wouldn't you?"

"So that's what you counted on—my father's support," Caroline said quietly.

"Naturally. With the house he was giving us we could have got along very well on what I have and a bit now and then. Dad wouldn't have had a club to wield over me. He'd never have given your father the satisfaction of doing more for me than he did. I'd have inherited his money some day. It's different now. If we marry he'll cut me off, and if I know you it wouldn't please you any more to be poor than it would me."

Anger flamed quickly to Caroline's cheeks. "Is that what you

I VENTURE TO say that ten years ago comparatively few persons were familiar with the word "halitosis". Today everyone has become familiar with it. It comes from a Latin word, "halitus", meaning breath, and halitosis is the modern term for bad breath.

Magazines, newspapers and street car placards daily point out the embarrassment of halitosis. But they fail to mention that halitosis is not a disease in itself but a symptom of some defect.

If Baby LeRoy, who is featured in "The Old-Fashioned Way," W. C. Fields' new starring film, coming Friday and Saturday to the Cliftona Theatre, grows to full manhood with an ingrained dislike for lemon meringue pie, he can attribute it to his recent film experience.

One scene in "The Old-Fashioned Way" calls for Baby LeRoy to plant one of those gooey confections on the unprotected visage of his fellow player, Fields.

While the cameras were waiting for LeRoy to start the pie on its parabolic flight, he probed its contents with his free finger and liked it so well that, in the subsequent retakes, he managed to consume almost a full pie.

The following day was given over to curing the effects of LeRoy's epicurean experiment, and he has shown no further curiosity about pies. Fields is happier.

This slip is not only shadow-proof—it's styled for extra long wear as well. Notice how the skirt, double in back, is left open at one side from the hips down. That means there will be much less wear and tear on the material; consequently, there'll be fewer split seams. It also means that you won't "sit out the back" of your slip as quickly as many of us do. Then, too, the built up straps, cut in one piece with the bodice, are less likely to slip off the shoulders and ruin the effect of your daintiest dresses. To go under your nicer frocks you might make this slip of flesh-colored satin.

Pattern 9189 may be ordered only in sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, 20, 30, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48 and 50. Size 16 requires 3 3/4 yards 39 inch fabric.

DORGER, BANKER, FREE

COLUMBUS, Nov. 8 — After serving two years and seven months of a 10-year prison term for embezzlement, Clarence A. Dorgier, former Cincinnati banker and attorney was at liberty today. His sentence was commuted yesterday by Governor George White.

Dorgier, whose father remains behind him in the prison, could not be traced after he was liberated. Gov. White left for Camp Perry a short time before the commutation of sentence was announced but left a statement in which he said that Judge Charles S. Bell, who sentenced Dorgier, had recommended "action" as well as many other citizens of Hamilton county.

PAROLE WITHDRAWN

The ex-banker had been given a parole last August but it subsequently was cancelled when it was revealed that Dorgier, then a trustee at the Junction City prison plant, allegedly had been receiving "special privileges." It was charged that he was allowed to visit sporting events in Columbus and Lancaster and that he also had been allowed to visit his wife frequently in a Lancaster hotel.

After the charges brought, a storm of controversy, Dorgier was returned to prison and his case had been shunted into the background until the governor took the action late yesterday.

Because of the special privilege charges, Herman Blosser, deputy warden at the Junction City plant, was demoted to guard, later dropped from the state payroll but still later re-employed at the Ohio Penitentiary here.

Dorgier was convicted November 22, 1930, on charges of embezzlement, misapplication of funds and false entry growing out of the failure of the Cosmopolitan Bank and Trust company at Cincinnati six months before. His father, Frank J. Dorgier, also was convicted but they did not enter prison until 14 months later after the Ohio Supreme court refused to intervene.

THROUGH MANIPULATION

The son was former vice-president of the bank and the father president of the defunct institution. Their case was closely interwoven through an alleged securities manipulation with that of Amor W. Shaffer, former manager of the Henry L. Doherty & Company office in Cincinnati. Shaffer served a prison term at the penitentiary but was paroled in September 1933.

No action was taken in the case of the elder Dorgier. His prison record, it was charged, contained many black marks for alleged violation of minor prison rules.

retirement of Dwight L. Matchette, Darke-co Democrat, as clerk of the lower house, and the naming of a Republican successor. Latest returns showed the election of 18 Democrats and 14 Republicans to the state senate, which would give the majority party one more vote than the minimum required to pass an ordinary bill. It takes 22 votes for the senate to pass emergency legislation.

EDGE IN SENATE

It was the first time in 18 years the Democrats elected a majority of the senators. Their success will mean replacement of the present clerk, Thomas E. Bateman, Pico-republican, Presiding officer of the new senate will be Lieut. Gov. Harold G. Mosier, Cleveland, a Democrat. He defeated Paul M.

Herbert, (R) Columbus, by 64,780 votes.

Republicans, despite the Democratic landslide occasioned by the presence of Donahoe of the ticket, managed to re-elect Attorney General John W. Bricker and State Treasurer Harry S. Day, while Secretary of State George S. Myers, Democrat, was re-elected.

Judge Charles Zimmerman, Democrat, and Arthur H. Day, Republican, were elected to 6-year state supreme court terms, and W. L. Hart, Republican, and W. F. Carver, Democrat, to short terms, beginning as soon as their terms are certified and ending on Dec. 31. Judge Howard L. Revis, Democrat, appointed to the supreme court by Gov. George White when Judge R. R. Kinkade resigned in 1933, went down to defeat before Roy H. Williams, Republican. Williams will replace Bevis as soon as certified by the secretary of state and remain on the bench until Dec. 31, 1936.

AMENDMENTS LOSE

Both proposed constitutional amendments to prohibit taxing of automobiles as personal property and to limit the state gas tax to 3 cents failed to carry.

While control of the state government remains in the hands of the Democrats through election of Davey, he was expected to lose no time in making a wholesale house-cleaning in state departments as he did at Democratic state headquarters immediately after his primary victory.

Of all the White major appointees, only Agriculture Director

Earl Hanefeld, Democratic state chairman, and State Fire Marshal Frank Henry are considered in the good graces of Davey. They probably will be retained by his administration.

Davey's election was expected to speed the departure of Col. John A. Hughes, liquor control director. He has indicated that he will resign before Davey has the opportunity to discharge him. Another White cabinet member certain to go was Highway Director O. W. Merrell who is friendly to Davey. As highway director, J. J. Factor, Jr., Cleveland division engineer in the highway department, was considered to be well up in the running.

HEEKIN IS BUCKEYES' ALL-AMERICAN STAR

COLUMBUS, Nov. 8.—Son of a pretty football player at Ohio State more than a score of years ago, a coffee salesman in his spare time and one of the best all-around gridiron players who has donned the scarlet in many years, Richard "Dick" Heekin of Cincinnati is one of the country's leading candidates for all-America honors.

Playing right halfback on the Ohio State varsity Heekin has been a big factor in the showing of the Buckeye team this fall. At the top or near the top of the Western Conference scoring Heekin has rapidly become one of the most feared backs in the conference.

SHOWS EVERYTHING

Heekin has shown everything a great back should have. His average through the first half of the season has been a minute fraction less than 6 yards on plays from scrimmage; he has run back kick-offs and punts from 20 to 92 yards; he is above the average punter; a great forward passer and a receiver of no mean ability. But on top of all that the thing that pleases most is that he is the best blocker on the team.

Weighing 196 pounds, he has the ability to rip through the opposing line and usually it takes two and sometimes three tacklers to bring him to earth. Heekin is the kind of a player that will twist, squirm, and fight for that extra yard after he is supposedly stopped. Then, too, he is the fastest man on the squad. Last week against Western Reserve he ran back a kickoff 92 yards for a touchdown and punters declare that it was exactly 15 seconds from the time Reserve kicked the ball until Heekin had crossed the goal line. On straight running, in football regalia, he can step the length of a football field in 10 seconds flat.

"Tippy" Dye, Ohio's 138 pound quarterback is a great favorite of Heekin and when this "muscular molecule" has the ball on offense players find him difficult to stop because usually Big Heekin is looking out for his boy and will block just twice as hard trying to clear a path for the youngster.

BEST SCHMIDT'S SEEN

Coach Francis A. Schmidt, who has been in the coaching game for 19 years, declares that Heekin is the best all-around player he has ever privileged to see in action.

Heekin is a junior in the college of arts. He is a member of Delta Upsilon fraternity, weighs 196 pounds and stands six feet, one inch in height.

SPORT BRIEFS

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Nov. 8.—Maurice Johnson today was named as the probable starter at end in Minnesota's clash with Indiana Saturday in the place of Frank Larson. Larson received a knee injury and could not finish the first half against Michigan. Stan Kostka is ready to take his place at fullback in spite of a chipped bone in his toe.

NOTRE DAME, Ind., Nov. 8.—Notre Dame's football team faced another hard defensive drill today in preparation for Saturday's game with the Navy eleven. The Irish will be in far better physical shape for the Navy game than they were against Pitt, it was said. A lengthy session last evening saw Coach Elmer Layden drilling the ends in getting down under punts. The varsity scrimmaged against freshmen teams using Navy plays.

ODDS ANNOUNCED

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Army, Purdue, Minnesota, Pittsburgh, Stanford and Yale are quoted as favorites to win their football games Saturday, according to quotations announced today by New York betting commissioners. The Cadets are quoted at 3 to 1 over Harvard; Purdue at 4 to 5 over Iowa; Minnesota at 4 to 1 over Indiana; Pittsburgh at 5 to 1 over Nebraska; Stanford at 2 to 1 over Washington; and Yale at 8 to 5 over Georgia.

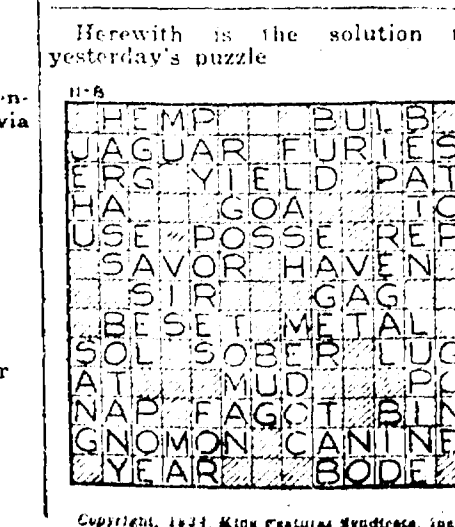

Colgate is favored at 3 to 5 over Tulane; Columbia at 8 to 1 over Brown; Illinois at 5 to 2 over Northwestern; So Methodist at 2 to 1 over Texas A. & M.; Ohio State at 5 to 2 over Chicago and St. Mary's at 5 to 2 over U. C. L. A.

About This And That

BY THE SECOND GUESSER

WE PICK STATE

The Ohio State-Chicago football game Saturday should be one of the most interesting in the Big Ten this year. We'll pick Ohio to win but predict that both teams will do plenty of scoring. If Ned Bartlett, Chicago's other great back, is out of the game Ohio's chances are better since Jay Berwanger will be the only man the Buckeyes must keep their eyes glued upon. He'll provide a busy afternoon, however.

MORE PREDICTIONS

There are a bunch of other games this week which will be difficult to select—Just for fun we're again going to try to predict them. The batting average last week was not so good. Here they are: Cincinnati over Ohio U. Colgate over Tulane. Columbia over Brown. Army over Harvard. Purdue over Iowa. Pitt over Nebraska. Michigan over Wisconsin. Illinois over Northwestern. U. S. C. over California. Stanford over Washington. Michigan State over Syracuse. Temple over Carnegie Tech. Navy over Notre Dame. Yale over Georgia. Wesleyan over Denison.

WHITE TO PASS

We read in the papers where Coach Gauthier of Wesleyan has given his charges some new plays with Turley as the key man. This Turley boy is after a conference scoring so he should be the man to do most of the tallying. The story also says that Turley and Howard White are going to alternate at throwing passes. Turley was off at Oxford last Saturday hitting only one man. Harley, for a gain. That was in the first half since in the second the ball was too muddy to even carry let alone pass.

IOWA CITY, Ia., Nov. 3.—Flash Oze Simmons, the University of Iowa negro halfback, may remain on the bench when the Hawkeyes meet Purdue Saturday. Injuries and his failure to come up to expectations caused Coach Ossie Solem to name John Hild to start at left halfback in the Boilermaker game.

STOUTSVILLE

Mr. and Mrs. Minard Rife and children, Tom and Nancy, of Dayton, visited Omer Rife and daughter, Helen, over the week-end. Miss Helen accompanied them home, Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Featherolf and family, of Adelphi, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Featherolf.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Stein and children, near Ashville, were guests, Sunday, of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Stein and other relatives.

Gets Hit, Is Arrested

MADRID—There was a loud explosion when a man was knocked down by a motor car in a busy Madrid street. When picked up by police, it was found that a loaded pistol in his pocket had been discharged by his impact. The man was not injured, but as he had no license for carrying arms, he was arrested.

Navy Seeks Revenge in Battle With Notre Dame

Zabriske, Navy guard. George Caldwell, Notre Dame quarterback. Fred Borries, Navy halfback. The midshipmen of the U. S. Naval academy seek revenge for a long string of defeats when they clash with Notre Dame's Irish in an important intersectional football contest at Cleveland next Saturday. The Navy is declared to have the best team it has had in years, and its chances of downing the South Bend gridders are good. This layout shows some of the outstanding players.

Favorite Recipes

Every once in a while we get a collection of recipes that women give as their favorites, because they are tasty, or because their families enjoy them so much. Here are a few of them:

Corned Beef Hash

"Maggie" probably wouldn't care about this recipe, but the rest of us will enjoy it.
3 Tbsp. fat
2 Tbsp. chopped onion
2 C. chopped corned beef, finely packed
2 C. cooked dried potatoes
1 C. milk or evaporated milk
1 t. salt
1/4 t. pepper

Melt the shortening in the skillet, and cook onion in it for about 3 minutes, or until a light brown in color. Mix the rest of the ingredients together and add to the skillet. Cook very slowly for 30 minutes, turning frequently as the mixture browns. Form into a loaf and turn onto a platter. Serves six.

Drop Doughnuts

A cake doughnut is always a good dessert or pick-up serving when outside temperatures hover below the freezing point. Then we need to eat more foods for energy and something sweet has quite an energizing effect.

3 eggs
1/4 t. salt
1 C. sugar
1 C. milk
3/4 C. flour
1/4 t. nutmeg
1 t. baking powder

Beat eggs. Add salt and sugar, and beat. Add milk and dry ingredients alternately. Drop small spoonfuls into deep fat and cook slowly. When cool, shake in powdered sugar. Makes 2 dozen drop doughnuts.

FEDERAL MEN CLEARING UP ROBLES ABDUCTION LAST SPRING IN ARIZONA

One Man Jailed, 2 Others Sought

PHOENIX, Ariz., Nov. 5.—With Oscar Robson, 31, Tucson, Ariz., night club operator under arrest, U. S. department of justice agents here today concentrated on the apprehension of two other persons, who they assert were Robson's accomplices in the kidnaping of June Robles in Tucson last spring.

It was learned today that from the amazing web of evidence gathered by the investigators, it has been established that a fourth member of the kidnap gang committed suicide last May, shortly after June was discovered alive in her desert coffin prison.

The suicide occurred, it was said, as officers were preparing to question this suspect, whose name was not revealed.

TRIED BY U.S.

Joseph E. P. Dunn, head of the Los Angeles district of the department of justice who conducted the investigations which led to the arrest of Robson, today emphatically declared that Robson will be prosecuted in the federal courts, and not turned over to Arizona authorities.

"Robson will be prosecuted in the federal courts on a charge of mailing a letter demanding extortion money," Dunn declared.

Robson, charged with writing the extortion letters to the Robles family, was connected to the case through his handwriting.

The printing on the ransom notes received by the Robles family at the time of the kidnaping, the federal agents here said, has been found by experts of the department of justice in Washington, to be similar to Robson's handwriting.

Handwriting of the suspect, and printing found in a railroad office where Robson was employed several years ago, has been compared with printing on the ransom notes it was said.

In checking on the handwriting the department of justice agents obtained samples of Robson's writing dating back to his high school days, they said.

WIFE IS CLEARED

The investigator, at the same time, issued a statement in which he cleared Robson's pretty, young wife, and the mother of the suspect's two children, from any connection with the case.

Dunn said Mrs. Robson was in Los Angeles at the time of the abduction.

Dunn revealed his belief that no ransom money had ever been paid and expressed the belief none of the members of the Robles family had ever connected Robson with the abduction.

The motive in the case, according to Dunn, was the $15,000 ransom demanded for the safe return of the child.

Robson, Dunn said, had been questioned by Tucson authorities shortly after the kidnaping, but was released.

Several times in recent weeks, Robson has been questioned further, the federal investigator said, but he was not taken into custody until his arrest and arraignment before U. S. Commissioner Daniel Hurley, Wednesday.

UNDER $50,000 BOND

Robson is being held under $50,000 bail for hearing, set for Nov. 22.

Thus far, Robson, who has no attorney, has remained silent in the face of repeated questioning although stoutly maintaining his innocence.

It was learned that one of the suspects sought in the case is an aviator.

This man, investigators say, is the member of the kidnap gang who went from Tucson to Chicago, and there mailed the letter which revealed the location of the prison "coffin" in which the 9-year-old child was held on the outskirts of Tucson.

It was this letter, assertedly written by Robson, which led to the release of June.

Dunn said that the abductors had planned the kidnaping well in advance but a "last minute slipup" resulted in the safe return of the favorite grandchild of Bernabe Robles, patrician cattle-knight of Arizona.

According to the plans of the kidnapers, as reconstructed by Dunn, the child was to have been spirited into Mexico, and held captive on an isolated ranch.

RANCHER REFUSED

Refusal of a Phoenix rancher who owned the property in Mexico, to co-operate in the plot caused that plan to be abandoned, the federal officials said.

The second suspect now being sought was the actual kidnaper, the agents said.

It was this man, they claim, who lured June, on her way home from school on April 25, into a dilapi-

New Streamline Train Last Word in Development of Locomotives

This layout illustrates the many changes which have taken place in the development of the railroad locomotive since its invention more than 130 years ago. The "last word" in railroad trains is the new Union Pacific train, which recently established a new transcontinental speed record from the Pacific to the Atlantic. One of the first engines was Stephenson's Rocket, built in England. Other locomotives prominent in the development of railroads include Peter Cooper's Tom Thumb of 1829; the John Bull, operating in 1831; the Lion of 1841; the Mississippi, in use in 1878; William Cook's tiny locomotive of 1885, and the Great Northern oil burner of 1925.

the rear of the post office site upon request of the government. The contractors are ready for the work to start, council was informed by Service Director William Justice. Justice was instructed to proceed with the construction of the sewer.

LIGHT QUESTION UP

Mr. Shaner brought up the question of the Court and High-st

traffic light which, it seems, is just a matter of opinion between certain persons. Some object to the light and others approve and ask it continuation. Shaner told council. He asked council's advice and Chairman Baker placed the matter in the hands of the safety director for investigation.

Solicitor Carl Leist told council that he had inquired into the request of Fire Inspector J. S. Baer for some kind of authority to force the elimination of fire traps and that he had been told all such authority should be given Baer by the state fire marshal. Mr. Baer has been told of the ruling. Fire Chief Talmel Wise reported to council that the fire cisterns were in need of repair if the city intends to keep them in repair for future emergency. The matter was referred to the service committee.

In addition to President Goeller, Councilmen Frank Marion and Ben Gordon missed the meeting.

His well-wishers concede that it was a mistake on Farley's part to try to convey an idea of the Grand Canyon on a special postage stamp.

Zanesville Schools In Tight Situation

ZANESVILLE, Nov. 5.—Approximately 6,500 children here today faced a school vacation of more than two months following the decision of the board of education to close the schools at the end of the regular sessions tomorrow.

The school treasury today contained only $4,000, or just enough to pay operating expenses up to Friday afternoon.

Although Zanesville citizens approved a three-mill levy for school purposes at the election Tuesday, revenue from the new tax will not be available until after Jan. 1.

A. S. Herzer, president of the school board, said that some plan might be worked out if teachers would agree to deferred salary payments until after the first of the year, when funds would be available.

Herzer said also that the schools might re-open soon if aid is granted by the state legislature, scheduled to reconvene Nov. 19.

Baby Beaten to Death

CINCINNATI, Nov. 5.—Police today continued their search for the prowler who last night clubbed a 14-month-old baby to death when its startled cries betrayed the man's presence in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Greer, negroes.

The baby, Gus Greer, died of a skull fracture. The prowler fled as the baby's father entered the room where Gus and two other children slept.

DARIEN, Conn., Nov. 5.—Two Darien policemen were reported dying today following an early morning running gunfight with three youths in an automobile.

The two officers are Sergeant Edward Mugazero and Patrolman John Cochran.

Two youths, believed to have taken part in the affair, were under arrest.

'RANCH' ABANDONED

DELAWARE, Nov. 5.—The federal government's big cattle range north of here for grazing of relief cattle shipped into Ohio from drought states was being scrapped today and by nightfall not a single cow was expected to remain at the feeding grounds.

Announcement of abandonment of the 300-acre range, which was rented by the government to fatten up the cattle before slaughtering for relief food, was made by Ben Vincent, superintendent at the ranch.

The cup race record for protests already has been far overshadowed. An international bridge competition has begun in England.
